Pennsylvania's Finest Parades At Annual Junior Dairy Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Junior dairy exhibitors from 4-H clubs and FFA chapters gathered in Harrisburg on Monday to compete in the 34th Annual Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show. This show is the culmination of months of work for junior exhibitors from across the Commonwealth. This show also officially begins a full, fast and exciting week of national dairy breed shows and sales known as the Pennsylvania All-American show.

More than 800 head of dairy cattle from the Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire, Milking Shorthorn, and Brown Swiss breeds paraded through the three-ring show held in the large arena of the Farm Show complex.

HOLSTEIN

Anissa Kensinger of Petersburg took the grand championship of the FFA Holstein show and the reserve grand title with two animals bred by the Fosters of Petersburg. The Huntingdon County exhibitor is a member of the Raystown Area FFA member.

The grand champion was a tremendous 3-year-old, Globe-Run G Word Trisha. Trisha was sired by Globe-Run Glendell Word. The reserve champion was a stylish 4-year-old, Globe-Run Valiant Tanya, sired by S-W-D Valiant.

Deanna Sparling of Troy in Bradford County took the junior championship of the FFA Holstein show with Maple-Flat Melvin Happy, an intermediate yearling

KILE To Feature Challenge Of The Breeds

HARRISBURG — A unique Saturday evening program is being planned for the 1989 Keystone International Livestock Exposition, to be held October 5-8 in the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. This event, the "Challenge Of The Breeds" will pit four internationally recognized horse breeds, the Appaloosa, the Arabian, the Paint and the Quarter Horse, against each other in an evening of fun and mastery. The animals, two from each breed, will be chosen by their respective breed associations. In order to compete, the horse must be owned by a Pennsylvania resident.

The six events in which each horse will be entered include:

- Pleasure Driving- Horses are asked to perform both ways at a walk and trot.
- English Pleasure- In English tack, horses will perform both directions at a walk, trot and a canter.
- Hunter Hack- In addition to performing on the rail, the horse will be asked to take two jumps.
- Western Pleasure- In western gear, the horse will walk, jog and lope in both directions.
- Western Riding- The horse performs a prescribed course

Love Rides Auctioneer's Gavel At Kauffman Sale

BY EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

ELIZABETHTOWN (Lancaster Co.)—Love rode on the head of the auctioneer's gavel here Tuesday as the first heifer in the ring at the Penn Springs Holstein dispersal was knocked-off twice for proceeds to support the S. June Smith Center in Lancaster and Ephrata. And little three-year-old Mitchel Kauffman, the reason for the benevolent sale opening, won the hearts of his fellow sale-goers as he scrambled around in the saw-dust doing his imitations for the local TV cameraman, patted the head of his heifer for this reporter and acted as cheer-leader in the sale ring for the bidding.

First, the sale staff of Backus Associates bought the heifer for $800 and returned their purchase to again be sold to Fred McCarthney, Dry Run, for $1000. Mitchel, who has Down Syndrom, is the son and grandson of Penn Springs farm owners Steve and Judy Kauffman and Robert and Mim Kauffman.

Acres Corn Update: Corn futures were almost a non-event today, ending the session from 1/4 cent higher to 1 cent lower. Session long pressure was exerted by reports of weaker interior cash basis levels, and forecasts for good harvest weather. Spillover from lower beans also had a negative impact on corn prices with offsetting support attributed to an increased export pace. Prices were confined to narrow range trading with December closing out for the day 3/4 cent lower at $2.29-3/4 after trading from $2.29-1/2 to $2.31-1/4.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures prices dropped from 1 to 6-1/4 cents today on selling tied to seasonal harvest pressure and forecasts for continued good weather for the next 6 to 10 days. Further pressure came from a weak news that Morocco had purchased 210,000 near term export outlook and disappointing metric tonnes kept the market alive. Light inspections on yesterday's weekly report. profit taking was featured but on the Soymeal and oil were lower on heavy pro- whole, prices remained near session highs fessional selling mirroring activity in the on the close. Pakistan provided limited support. November beans closed 6-1/4 cents lower today at $5.66-1/4 after trading in a range from $5.66 to $5.76.

Acres Wheat Update: As predicted yesterday, wheat prices closed from 2-3/4 to 4-1/4 cents higher today on buying proposed by widespread export rumors and yesterday's late news that China had bought 300,000 metric tonnes. Talk that Egypt would tender this weekend for 500,000 metric tonnes combined with Acres Cattle Update: Live and feeder cattle futures settled higher again today with the fats gaining from 27 to 100 points on the October option while spillover fueled gains in the feeders from 15 to 72 points. Buying today was in reponse to reports of active fed cattle sales at higher prices with top prices on steers and heifers reported at $70.00/cwt in the Texas Panhandle. Expected pre-first notice day long liquidation was absent today as the board

RAIN SLOWS SUMMER CROP HARVEST IN THE NORTHEAST. SOUTHEAST ASIA...SHOWERS BRING RELIEF TO IMMATURE CROPS ACROSS NORTHERN THAILAND. SOUTH AMERICA...LATE-WEEK SHOWERS SOAK SOUTHERN WHEAT AREAS OF ARGENTINA AND BRAZIL. DRY WEATHER PREVAILS IN NORTHERN CROP AREAS. Take Your Seat, The Performance Is About To Begin.

You'll applaud the performance of Funk's G-Hybrids like G-4543, G-4626 and G-4446 when the curtain falls at harvest time.

A top choice for shelled grain or ear corn in 110 to 120-day maturity areas, G-4543 produces maximum yields even at lower populations. In Delaware hybrid field corn trials, it topped the field with 148.4 bu./A.

G-4626 has it all in a 115 to 120-day maturity hybrid—fast dry-down, outstanding stay-green, superior standability, excellent plant health and exceptional yields. In Delaware trials, G-4626 produced yields up to 200.9 bu./A.

G-4446 delivers superior late season standability, excellent grain quality and high test weights. A multi-purpose, widely adapted hybrid, G-4446 produced a state record 252.4 bu./A. in the 1986 Pa. Five-Acre Corn Club competition.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

SEPT. 25-OCT. 1, 1989

End of hay fever season.

Average length of days for the week 11 hours 53 minutes . . . October 1, 1810, the Berkshire Cattle Show, one of the first U.S. agricultural fairs, opens in Pittsfield, MA

Be certain and on the level, to trust to chance is to dance with the Devil.

Ask the Old Farmer: How come my mother would tell us to "ready-off" the table when she wanted it cleared? M. L., La.

"Redan" or "redd" of French origin is to rearrange or put in order.

Home Hints: Mix half vinegar, half water, to clean crystal

OPINION

Better Than Going To Bed Hungry

Actually, there is probably no food that is absolutely free of carcinogens (cancer-causing agents).

Because modern technology allows for detection of small amounts of contaminants in foods we find things that would not have been detectable a decade ago.

According to Peter Hutt, a Washington DC attorney, future progress in food safety regulation will depend upon progress in the fields of molecular biology and toxicology which will permit greater understanding of the mechanisms by which food substances exert their beneficial or toxic effects on the human body.

But Amy Barr, Director of the Good Housekeeping Institute in New York, says "Consumers want zero risk, but they fail to understand that nothing in this world is risk free."

"The public is overwhelmed by what they feel are problems caused by deficiencies in the food production, processing, distribution, and regulatory arenas," Barr said. According to Barr, this trend results in part because of widespread misunderstanding of the kind of risk/benefit analysis that has become a necessity in evaluating food safety today.

Through a process called quantitative risk assessment, the government studies food and other compounds to determine how severe a potential health risk might be. This assessment is based on potency and exposure. Then, government officials assign a number to describe the risk for human beings. For example, a food might be rated as having, "a one in 100,000 lifetime cancer risk."

Hutt explained, "Quantitative risk assessment has been developed to permit a line to be drawn between carcinogenic risks that are significant and those that are insignificant and thus within the bounds of public acceptability."

This represents a change in approach over the last three decades. In 1958, the Delaney Clause prohibited any substance known to cause cancer in human beings or in tests with laboratory animals from being added to food products.

"Congress imposed a basically black and white rule," Hutt said. "At that time, the ability to detect carcinogens was very limited and we only tested a small number of compounds, so we were dealing with only a handful of substances."

The Delaney Clause is no longer practical, according to Hutt, because scientific advances have made it possible to detect contaminants in food in parts per quadrillion as opposed to parts per million, the standard when the Delaney Clause was first enacted. In addition, the government tests hundreds of compounds today, as opposed to a select few.

We have already advanced so far that scientists can find something harmful in every food and doctors can find some kind of sickness in everybody. But the worries these modern day professionals give us are still better than going to bed hungry at night or dieing at\half the age of the US life expectancy.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Beware of Spiny Pigweed in Pastures

Redroot or redroot pigweed is a common, easily recognized annual weed in gardens and cultivated fields. We are also feeling the first cousin of the weed -- spiny redroot -- appearing in many areas of the county.

If you do not know what spiny redroot looks like, you can tell real quickly what it feels like by carefully rubbing your fingers along the stem. Two needle-shape spines occur at the juncture of each leaf with the stem. These spines prevent all grazing animals from eating these plants. Consequently, we are seeing large numbers of these weeds appearing in many pastures, along cow paths and in open spaces or loafing aras. Some have been found in alfalfa fields... a bad situation. These weeds now have mostly red stems and can easily be spotted. The plants should be cut before heading out and going to seed.

For control, use Banvel or any of the 2,4-D type herbicides. You can spot spray the plants not but the best time would be just about the time in May when corn planting time is over. The important thing is to spray the pasture. A second application to kill late appearing weed seedlings would label instructions when applying any pesticide.

To Salute 4-H

National 4-H Week runs from October 1 through October 7. I wish to congratulate the 4,092 members, 587 volunteer adult leaders, and the profiessional youth workers for their accomplishments and service to Lancaster County.

Through 4-H projects and activities, youth from all social and economic backgrounds, both rural and urban, demonstrate that they can make a difference in food production, conservation of our natural resources, improve economic understanding, and in the formulation of future career decisions.

As a result of the fine exchange programs, 4-H also contributes to international understanding and increased world food production. Four-H provides an important pathway to the future for many youth.

To Manage Horizontal Silos

Most of our permanent silos are filled, but we do have some livestock and dairy producers that need to store silage in temporary structures. In many cases this is a trench or bunker silo, mostly above ground. In these cases, it is water and air from the silage mass. This will require tightening down the plastic cover week by week as the silage settles. Also, surface water should be drained away from the silage area. There are cases where the black plastic is flapping in the wind during fall months. This will usually result in large amounts of spoiled silage.

To Apply Lime

First, soil test, then apply the needed lime before the soil freezes. That 1-2 order of events should have a high priority now as we finish one growing season and plan ahead for the next.

In order to do its job of correcting soil acidity, lime must come in contact with the soil particles, not just those on the soil surface. Weather changes during the next 6 months will provide just the right conditions to do lots of mixing of lime and soil within the topsoil layer. Freezing and thawing, rain, snow and ice, help to move the lime downward.

During the fall season field are firm and usually dry enough to allow lime spreading trucks to move about more easily. Deliveries of lime can be made on time.

TWO MINUTES WITH THE BIBLE

Can The Ten Commandments Save?

St. Paul pointed out a basic Scriptural — and logical — truth, when he said: "For not the hearers of the Law are just before God, but the doers of the Law shall be justified" (Rom. 2:13).

Many people suppose that God gave us the ten commandments to help us to be good. The fact is, however, that He gave them to show us that we are bad. Romans 3:20; 5:20; Galatians 3:19 and a dozen other Bible passages teach this clearly.

How can the law be of any advantage to a lawbreaker? How can it justify us unless we keep it — perfectly?

Do you recall the woman caught in adultery, in John 8? She was a Jewess. She was better off than the Gentiles, for she had the Law of Moses, but this didn't justify her; it condemned her.

So her "advantage" turned out to be a serious disadvantage, for "not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the Law shall be justified."

James 1:23, 24 says that one who knows the Law but doesn't obey it, is like a man looking into a mirror, seeing his dirty face, and then walking away without doing anything about it.

This is why Romans 2:14, 15 declares that the consciences of the heathen confirm what the Law says, "their thoughts the meanwhile accusing, or else excusing one another."

Those in heathen lands know that it is wrong to lie and steal and commit adultery, yet they know nothing about the Law of God, or the Ten Commandments. How then do they know that these things are wrong? God made them with this knowledge; He gave to them a conscience, a sense of blameworthiness in doing wrong.

Every man has this inner sense, though his conscience may become seared. It is common experience for men's conscience to trouble them; "their thoughts" either "accusing or else excusing one another."

How good to know the One who has paid the penalty for our sins so that our hearts may be "cleansed from an evil conscience" (Heb. 10:22)!

opened higher and continued to show improvement. October live cattle settled at $72.07 after trading in a range from $71.35 to $72.45. September feeders were 15 higher at $83.25.

CME FEEDER SETTLEMENT PRICE: 09/22/89 $ 82.78 - up $ .02/CWT
NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: CASH PRICES - steady FUTURES - steady

Acres Hog Update: Live hog futures prices settled mixed this afternoon with settlements from 28 lower to 27 higher. Strength was centered in the October option on buying tied to firm cash markets and scattered bull spreading. Some profit taking and pre-report positioning was noted. The day started off well on reports of continued strong packer demand as operating margins continue to be profitable. Further support was tied to firm wholesale product prices. Bellies also settled mixed with front end support coming from wholesale product strength and light short covering. October live hogs settled at $43.42 after trading in a range from $43.25 to $43.70.

State Bureau Gives Bovine Tuberculosis Update

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Dauphin County guernsey herd found to be infected with Mycobacterium bovis (M. bovis) in August, 1989 has been depopulated. One hundred nine (109) of 126 animals tested in that herd were declared tuberculin reactors and 16 of the reactors were found to have grossly visible lesions at slaughter. M. bovis was cultured from reactors in this herd by the National Veterinary Services Laboratory. Indemnity will be paid for all animals depopulated because of bovine tuberculosis.

One hundred forty (140) Pennsylvania herds have had contact with the infected Dauphin County herd as a result of receiving exposed animals or exhibition or neighborhood contact. Eight (8) herds have had tuberculin reactors that originated from the infected herd but none of these reactors had grossly visible lesions. Testing has been conducted in 34 herds. Four (4) federal veterinary medical officers will be assisting the Bureau of Animal Industry to complete testing of all contact herds as soon as possible. Owners are being advised to depopulate all animals that were directly exposed to the infected herd even though these animals may be test negative.

Because there is no evidence thus far of spread of bovine tuberculosis by infected or exposed animals, the Department has not made any changes to regulations governing the sale, exhibition or transportation of cattle. All cattle transported for addition to herds for dairy or breeding purposes and all cattle transported for exhibition purposes must be tuberculin test negative within 60 days of movement unless they originate from herds test negative within one year. Pennsylvania animals may be exhibited for the show season if tuberculin test negative during that calendar year.

Pennsylvania's Tuberculosis Free State status has, however, been suspended pending the outcome of investigation of this outbreak. Pennsylvania is temporarily classified a Modified Tuberculosis Accredited State, and test requirements for shipment of Pennsylvania cattle to other states and foreign countries are affected. Persons considering interstate shipment or export of Pennsylvania cattle should consult either the state or country of destination or the Department for special requirements.

The Department has not determined the source of infection in the Dauphin County herd. We suspect that infection existed in this herd for several years in spite of negative annual herd tests and the absence of clinical signs and evidence of lesions in slaughtered animals. Owners of cattle herds not tested within the past year should have their herds tuberculin tested by a veterinarian. Veterinarians must obtain authorization from the Bureau to conduct complete herd tests. Tuberculin testing is at owner expense except for testing of deviators and suspect herds by Bureau veterinarians. All tuberculin test reactors are depopulated and state and federal indemnity is paid. No animals may be added to herds for dairy or breeding purposes unless accompanied by a health certificate documenting a negative tuberculin test according to Department regulations.

The caudal fold test is used for routine tuberculin testing of cattle. Veterinarians conducting this test must report any reaction occurring at the tuberculin injection site. A comparative cervical test will be conducted by a Bureau or federal veterinarian to determine the final disposition of reactions to the caudal fold test. Careful application of the caudal fold test is essential if infected animals are to be detected before serious disease spread occurs.

Montgomery County Rabbit, Cavy, Poultry Show

Sam Knott of Perkiomenville took the best in show honors in the annual 4-H Rabbit and Cavy Show with his Netherland Dwarf. The reserve champion was a Florida White shown by Laura Davies of Perkasie. The show was held in conjunction with the Montgomery County 4-H Fair last month.

The grand champion cavy was a Black American shown by Nichole Giorgiandano of Arcola. The reserve champion cavy went to a White Teddy owned by Katie Kelly of Harleysville.

Matt Hailey of Chalfont had the grand champion entry in the poultry show. His bird was a Silver Laced Wyandotte rooster. The reserve champion entry was a Millie Fleur owned by Sam Knoot. Matt also had the top entry in the laying hen and egg categories.

The various best of breed winners included Tammy Tyler of Chalfont, Harlequin; Nichole Giorgiandano, Rex; Kelly Storey of Lansdale, Holland Lop; and Eric Kolb of Harleysville, Mini-Lop.

In the showmanship division, the junior champion rabbit showman rosette went to Sam Knott, while Todd Becker of Norristown was the reserve junior champion. Katie Kelly won the junior showmanship award in the cavy competition, with Nichole Giorgiandano placing first in the senior class.

A real fish story. But no tall tale.

Here's a fish story that's based on facts and solid research from Purina®. Purina's advanced technology has produced new pig starters with fishmeal which provide dramatically enhanced nutritional value and pig perfromance. This new feeding program produces an 8% increase in average daily gain and a 2.1 lb. increase in weight out of the nursery in comparison to our current line. And that's the best there is!

Feeding trial results show extra margin over feed cost on every pig. Now that's a fish story that's no tall tale — but we do expect some mighty tall orders.

Who'd want to feed anything less? Call or drop by for details.

Pinesedge and GMC Farms Share Premier Honors At Milking Shorthorn Show

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pinesedge Farm of Shoemakersville, Pa. captured the premier breeder award at the Milking Shorthorn Show Tuesday. The show was part of the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show held all week in the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

Samuel Yoder and family of Pinesedge added this premier breeder banner to their collection of ribbons, rosettes, trophies, plaques, plates and banners from 26 years of showing and winning with Milking Shorthorn at the Pennsylvania All-American Show.

Premier exhibitor honors went to a 4-year PA All-American show couple, Gregory and Marcia Clark of GMC Farm in Turnbridge, Vermont. This was their first premier exhibitor award and first championships of the show.

Ridgeway Shaw owned by Lee J Clark of Leeside Farms in Ogdensberg, New York, took the grand championship in the Milking Shorthorn show. This 6-year-old impressed show judge Merton Sowerby with her tremendous quality, size and scale. Shaw took best udder in the class with the most balance, symmetry in the udder and height and width of rear udder over all her class contestants.

Pinehurst Ruby Rucinda, the first-placed senior 2-year-old exhibited by Gregory and Marcia Clark of Turnbridge, Vermont, took the reserve grand championship in the Milking Shorthorn show. Rucinda also took the best udder in her class.

The best senior female bred and owned by an exhibitor was Pinesedge Alfair Sonja owned by Phyllis Yoder of Batavia, New York. This big, strong cow had more depth of fore rib and more strength of udder with an advantage in teat placement to give her the best udder in her 3-year-old class.

Best junior female bred and owned by an exhibitor went to Huck's K-Schie Genie-Exp, a senior yearling exhibited by Hucks Hidden Acres in Turnbridge, Vermont.

Junior champion went to GMC-Ap-King Pansy-Exp, a junior yearling owned by Gregory and Marcia Clark of Turnbridge, Vt. Projected production on this champion is 16,794 pounds of milk with 615 pounds of butterfat.

Wool Industry Tells Its Story

DENVER, Co. — The wool industry wasn't pulling the wool over anyone's eyes in late July when it hosted 22 people to a first-hand look at the sheep business in the Colorado high country.

It was the American Sheep Industry Association's annual Wool Tall Timber Tour in Vail, Colo., and the idea behind it was to create a better understanding of the wool industry among its most important members — designers, spinners, textile manufacturers, retailers and consumers.

One participant called the tour a 'kaleidoscope of the wool industry." And he echoed the sentiments of many other participants who said the Tall Timber Tour gave them a truer concept of the breadth of the wool industry from the sheep producer to the final wool product.

For producers like Bill Schneemann, ASI president, Steve Raftopoulos, Wool Council chairman, Joe and Aggie Helle of Dillon, Mont., and Julie Hansmire and Randy Campbell of Vail, Colo., it was a unique opportunity to tell their story to the end users of wool and to hear what those buyers want from American wool.

"We're serious about improving our clip, not only for domestic use but maybe for the international market," said Joe Helle. "If we want to survive, we have to look out long-term for ourselves — position ourselves as a premium product.

"You say we have some real strengths in American wool — strength, loftiness, handle. And you tell us that black fiber is a problem. We're listening. Don't give up on American wool. I think we can do it, just as many individual producers are, through management and genetics."

Julie Hansmire added, "Randy and I are looking forward to producing lamb and wool for the rest of our lives. American producers can produce better wool. Here, we're learning from each other."

Len Frey, general manager of North Central Wool Marketing Corp., called changes in the wool production and marketing system "a matter of getting motivated." And that motivation, he said, comes from seeing the way changes relate to the end product and consumer acceptance.

In some cases, said Jw Nuckolls, Center of the National Wool Marketing Inc., changes which could vastly improve wool quality and marketability are management decisions rather than financial decisions. Core testing and objective measurement were two techniques promoted by tour participants.

Increasing consumer acceptance of wool was a point stressed by tour participants, who lauded the fibers' comfort and durability. More consumer advertising and education could increase consumption, they said. "Consumers need to be made aware of the benefits of wool," said Bob Cohen of Jantzen, echoed by Ralph Goodwin of the U.S. Air Force who said, "The public should be educated on the comfort, coolness and easy care of wool."

"If we can get the consumer to buy that first shirt, we have the battle won," added C.W. Oliver of Reaford Uniform Fabrics in New York City.

Participants also saw sales opportunities for wool in some untapped apparel markets such as athletic wear and talked about competition from natural fibers such as cotton and synthetic blends.

Guenther Delius of Bremer Woll-Kaemmerrei A.G. in West Germany, one of the world's largest wool top makers, talked about the global wool market and the relation of American wool and its potential. Domestic designers and manufacturers took the opportunity to talk with Delius about production, design and manufacturing trends worldwide.

Programs Coordinate Media Buy

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— In keeping with the cooperative agreement signed in June by three dairy promotion groups operating in Pennsylvania, the Commodity Marketing Board of the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program has approved an annual fluid milk advertising campaign in conjunction with the American Dairy Association & Dairy Council, Inc. (F02) and the Federal Order 36 Advertising and Promotion Agency.

At its August 1 meeting in Harrisburg, the PDPP Board earmarked $700,000 toward a total $2.1 million 1989-90 joint campaign scheduled to begin in October, at the start of the PDPP fiscal year.

The PDPP is also spending $40,000 to promote dairy products during the 1989-90 Penn State football season, with three, 60-second commercials to be aired during the radio broadcasts of 11 games. The buy includes a full-color football program advertisement; three, 60-second spots on all Penn State basketball radio broadcasts; and opening and closing "billboards" for both the football and basketball game broadcasts.

NATURALLY, ORGANICALLY GROWN, UNSPRAYED FOOD AND LIVESTOCK FEED IS GAINING IN POPULARITY VERY FAST.

Consumers are rising up against toxic food for their families. Chemical sprays are being taken off of the market one by one by the EPA because of consumer demand. Now is the time to condition your soil so that you can do without it.

Our program raises crops so full of minerals, trace elements and sugar that the bugs can't stand it. They are sent to get rid of only the unhealthy, deficient plants that are not fit to eat, so that we and our livestock do not eat them. They leave the good ones for us. Our customers are proving it. Nature is good. Let us honor and assist it.

Our customers are getting from 10 to 20% premium for their crops. One is promised $1.00 per bu. premium for 25 acres soybeans. We need more corn and soybeans to feed livestock and poultry. Our customers tell us that their livestock now have hardly any problems (almost perfect), and produce more milk and meat on less feed.

And our fertilizer is cheaper than the chemical, and lasts longer. Our materials are producing from 70 to 90 bu. soybeans and 250 to 300 bu. corn per acre. If you can't see the superiority of our program, you should eat organically grown vegetables and fruit for better eyesight!

BY PAT PURCELL

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — An Ohio Brown Swiss breeder dominated the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show held at the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show in Harrisburg on Tuesday.

Top Acres Farm of St. Paris, Ohio, exhibited the grand and reserve grand champion bulls, grand champion female, and the best senior female bred and owned by an exhibitor. Wayne Sliker of Top Acres Farm took home both the premier breeder and premier exhibitor awards by placing in all classes, but two.

Wayne Sliker of Top Acres Farm in St. Paris, Ohio, receives premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners from Swiss Miss America Laurie Balawender at the Eastern National Brown Swiss Show held in Harrisburg on Tuesday.

Top Acres Sterling Lolly, a 3-year-old, with production at 14,930 pounds of milk and 635 pounds of butterfat took the grand title for her size and scale and height, width and fullness of rear udder, according to Donald Bossard, the Brown Swiss show judge.

Lolly also took best udder in her class and was selected as best bred and owned of the senior animals. Top Acres Sterling ET was the champion's sire and the dam is Top Acres Success Lusty.

Easy winners took the champion and reserve champion bull honors. Bossard went to his top two bulls in the senior bull class for his champions. Top Acres EJ Stature took the title and was followed by Top Acres EJ Harvard ET.

Best junior female bred and owned went to K & S Krebs and Garrison Bros. of Streetsboro, Ohio. It was Ly-Lin-Lee Farms of Portage, Wisconsin, which exhibited the reserve grand champion in the Eastern National Brown Swiss show. Milk production is at 13,767 and butterfat at 497 for this winner, 3-year-old, Gibralter BVJ Denise Daisy.

Premier sire honors went to West Lawn Stretch Improver. The Ohio Brown Swiss Association took home the state herd award.

Will Do It Sweete Rose owned and exhibited by James A. Walker & Sons of Ontario, Canada, took the junior championship of the Eastern National Show. Walkerbrae Farms' winner was a junior yearling described by show judge Bossard as an easy winner in the class due to her sharpness and angularity throughout.

We-Gotta Improver Frannie did not need much improving for Bossard who selected this senior yearling as the reserve junior champion for her smooth blending body, her depth of body especially in the fore and rear rib. K & S Krebs and Garrison Brothers were the owners/exhibitors on this champion from Streetsboro, Ohio.

which demonstrates the performance of a well-mannered ranch horse.

• Barrel Racing- A timed event in the clover-leaf pattern is performed by the horse.

The horses will be judged at each of these events on a point system by a qualified judge. The winning horse will receive the distinction of being the Keystone Sovereign Champion and will receive an award of $1,000. The Reserve Champion will be awarded $500. Placings will be paid through eighth place.

This marks the first time that a "Challenge Of The Breeds" event has been held in Pennsylvania. Jim Gallagher, chairman of this unique event and co-chairman of the KILE Show, reports that the various breed associations are in the process of looking for "outstanding" horses. The horses not only must rate high in confirmation and performance, but must be very versatile.

In addition to the six events in the "Challenge Of The Breeds," the draft horse hitch classes will be held during the evening. These classes consist of the 4-horse hitch, the 6-horse hitch and the Farm Team, just to name a few.

The event will take place on Saturday evening, October 7 in the large arena of the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex. It will begin at 7:00 p.m. There is no admission fee for this event or for any part of the Keystone International Livestock Expo.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the PA Livestock Association in cooperation with the PA Department of Agriculture and the PA Farm Products Show Commission.

Only Farm Credit Has Loan Officers Who Were Trained In The Field.

While you were growing up on the farm going to 4-H, FFA, maybe even AG school, do you know what your Farm Credit loan officer was doing?

Same thing.

Not many bankers can say that.

True, they can make loans nine ways to Sunday. But, now your Farm Credit loan officer can, too. Over the last few years our people have gone through extensive training at making every kind of farm loan imaginable. Now a Farm Credit loan officer can give you the lowdown on rates, options and creative financing as well as any city banker can.

And around here, our Farm Credit loan officers have the power of approval that's equal to most bank presidents.

So the next time you need to get a farm loan, think about this for just a moment.

Then let one of our Farm Credit loan officers prove to you what we've been saying all along. That bankers can't be farmers. But farmers can be bankers.

New York Fair Fined For Meat, Poultry Violations

ROCK SPRINGS (Centre Co.) — The Department of Agriculture and Penn State University officials today signed an agreement to help farmers reduce their dependence on chemical pesticides.

Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff and College of Agriculture Dean Lamartine Hood signed the agreement to share resources and give priority to research of new techniques in Integrated Pest Management (IPM).

IPM is a system of crop protection that uses biological, cultural and chemical methods to reduce pesticide use while preserving a farm's profitability.

"These new techniques can show farmers they may be buying more chemicals than they need, and that there may be more effective, cheaper methods of controlling pests," said Wolff.

"The department has been supporting these concepts for some time, and the feedback has been positive."

Wolff and Hood signed the agreement during the annual Ag Progress Days exposition at Penn State's agricultural research center at Rock Springs.

Penn State's College of Agriculture has been promoting Integrated Pest Management through Cooperative Extension and crop management associations. In addition, the university has conducted numerous research projects on IPM.

One project has focused on the European red mite -- a pest that lowers the quality and production of apples.

"Through IPM research, we were able to discover a biological control that was effective against the mites," said Hood.

"Cooperation with the Department of Agriculture in this continuing and future research will help bring about more success stories like this."

The Agriculture Department has provided more than $386,000 in research grants to Penn State for IPM-related projects:

CONTINUING PROJECTS

-- Biological control of forage diseases $29,500
-- Plant disease control $15,967
-- Control of the apple bud moth $18,031
-- Crop management $35,088
-- Fruit and vegetable post-harvest loss $83,628

NEW PROJECTS:

-- Biological controls for mushroom diseases $32,222
-- survey of integrated pest management $30,375
-- Potato blight disease $20,203
-- Biological control of leaf diseases $27,256
-- Integrated weed management for row crops $23,662

board member for the early intervention facility, said she was overjoyed at the prospect of the $1800 gift and the opportunity to let people know that the center for special children with mental and physical impairment needs public support like this so they can continue the three locations in Lancaster County.

"We train and support children and parents from the impaired child's birth," Booth said. "Parents need almost as much support as the children in these situations."

Judy agrees. "They (the Smith Center) were such a great help to us," she said. "That's why we wanted to do something for them and decided to donate the proceeds of a heifer at the sale."

The center has a $700,000 yearly budget to provide the expensive medical equipment and service free to the families of special children. But only 65 percent of their budget is covered by federal, state and local governments.

"Gramm-Rudman has cut into our funds," Booth said. "That's why we need the community support."

The top of the sale was the first cow in the ring. Penn-Springs Rotate Alexis, the VG-86 three-year-old, sold for $5000 to Tim Kissling from Robesonia. Alexis is projected over 20,000m, 766f, and 652p. Of course, the sire is Rotate and the dam was Penn-Springs' well known 2E Milestone Ada cow with a string of records to 29,890m, 3.6%, 1067f and 927p. The next dam is VG and the third dam is E, all with the Penn-Springs prefix.

Penn-Springs Foxmore Dixie VG-88, who was first in class at the Lancaster County Holstein Show this year, sold for $3400 to Mark Hess, Quarryville. The homebred three-year-old was due at sale time after a two-year-old record of 20,620m, 3.5%, 729f.

In all, cattle went as far west as Iowa and Arlen Buttke, Randleman, North Carolina, bought 30 head.

Because the Kauffman family didn't have their cows to milk, they were able to sleep late Wednesday morning.

Hometown Girl Shows Ephrata Fair Champion Hog

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — Renee Zartman, 16, ended her swine showing career with a grand flourish, a grand champion flourish that is. The Ephrata High School junior exhibited the champion at the Ephrata Fair in a show that will be her last.

The daughter of Tom and Barbara Zartman of Ephrata, Zartman showed a 234-pound crossbred gilt that was the first and only grand champion that she's had in her eight years of showing hogs.

Judge Henry Gruber of New Tripoli selected the 226-pound heavyweight hog of Kenton Good to be the show's reserve grand champion. The crossbred barrow is one in a string of champions for the son of Ezra and Elsie Good of Denver.

A partial list of the winners follows.

Rover Runs Away With Lampeter Fair Grand Champion Steer Show

Anita Meck owned the reserve grand champion steer at the Lampeter Fair. Doug Musser showed the skittish steer for Meck who was at a poultry association meeting in her official capacity as Pennsylvania Poultry Association Queen.

BY LISA RISSER

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — It took two days for Dwain Livingood to catch his steer after the newly purchased Angus-Chianina cross ran away. Rover ran away again, this time with the grand champion honors at the Lampeter Fair on Wednesday night.

The 1,205-pound steer is the first grand champion for the 16-year-old son of Earl and Joyce Livingood of Lancaster. Livingood has been showing for six years and had a reserve grand champion in the year he began. Rover, also the 4-H champion steer, and Livingood will go on to the county roundup next month.

Judge Bill Holloway of York slapped the Angus-Limousin owned by Anita Meck of Refton for the reserve champion title. The FFA champion , a 1,285-pound steer named Marshall, is the second consecutive Lampeter Fair FFA champion for Meck, whose steer last year was grand champion.

Meck, the 18-year-old daughter of Kenneth and Esther Meck, is also the Pennsylvania Poultry Queen. She was absent from the fair, attending a poultry association function.

Suffolk Lambs Tops At Lampeter Fair Show

The grand champion 4-H market lamb at the Lampeter Fair was Alexandria, owned by 11-year-old Lisa Reiff of Strasburg.

BY LISA RISSER

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Heidi Quanbeck and Lisa Reiff are partial to Suffolks and that stood them in good stead at the Lampeter Fair this year. Reiff's 106-pound purebred Suffolk was named the grand champion 4-H market lamb, while Quanbeck's 127-pound Suffolk cross was named the FFA grand champion sale lamb.

Reiff, the 11-year-old daughter of Lloyd and Laura Reiff of Strasburg, wasn't too sure about the ewe, which she named Alexandria, when her father bought it. "She didn't look too good," explained Reiff. Her first clue that the lamb was good was when it was named light heavyweight champion.

This is the third year of showing for Reiff and her first grand champion rosette. The pair will go on to the county roundup next month.

Eshbach Shows Lampeter Fair Grand Champion Hog

BY LISA RISSER

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — It took four years, but finally, Brian Eshbach of Millersville raised a grand champion hog. His 230-pound York/Hamp crossbred gilt was named champion of the Lampeter Fair swine show by Judge Henry Gruber of New Tripoli.

"This hog just puts it all together," Gruber said. "It has the kind of modern physiology that today's consumers are looking for."

The 18-year-old, who had some help from his father with selecting the pig, added that "it had nice depth and width and it was a real nice little pig."

Eshbach, the son of Larry and Mary Eshbach, is a member of Manor FFA chapter.

Another Manor FFA'er, Sue Brown, showed the reserve grand champion. Brown, the 15-year-old daughter of Richard C. and Shirley M. Brown of Millersville, showed a 250-pound Duroc that she selected herself. The first-year showman worked with her hog every day in preparation for the show.

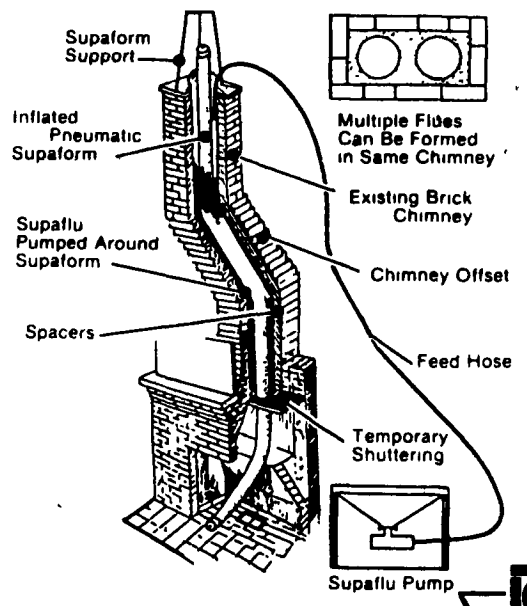
CHIMNEY PROBLEMS?



Supaflu Fights Hot Chimney Fires Before They Begin.

Creosote build-up, cracked chimney tiles, decaying mortar and hot trapped gasses. This is the way dangerous and damaging chimney fires start. A trained Supaflu chimney professional can spot these hazards in a hurry and take care of them almost as fast. A fast and inexpensive cast-in-place Supaflu installation makes your chimney better than new, safer than new. A smooth, strong Supaflu lined chimney fights creosote build-up and eliminates hot trapped gases, dramatically reducing chimney fire dangers.

Whimisical Animal Dolls Designed By Retired Couple

BY JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

SPRING GROVE (York CO.) — When the last dairy cow heads down the road to a new home, what can a couple who has milked twice a day, for much of their married life, look forward to?

For former dairy farmers Lester and Minerva Luckenbaugh, working together on farm chores, milking cows and raising crops, was an expected and enjoyable part of their chosen lifestyle. Together, the Luckenbaughs built their Leserva Farms registered Holstein herd, tended to the myriad of dairy and crop-related chores, and raised two children.

Although many years have passed since the herd was dispersed in the early 1970s, the Luckenbaugh's continue to work together as a team. The avenue of pursuit, however, is now of a very different nature.

The Luckenbaugh's no longer milk cows. Now they make them.

"Cow dolls" are just the latest addition to a line of handsomely-crafted animals and dolls which Minerva began designing about ten years ago. About six times annually, the couple displays a wide selection of their creations at area craft shows.

Taking their stuffed dolls and animals "on the road" to craft shows keep Minerva and Lester Luckenbaugh out among people and busier than they ever expected to be.

A special order of their hand-crafted dolls is delivered regularly to the Cobblestone Gift Shop in Strasburg. And, their waiting list for custom orders entails at least a three-month wait for special-ordered items.

Although a home-sewing, quilting, and crafts enthusiast all her life, it was after their retirement from dairying that Minerva could devote more time to her talent for handwork. Doorstops, in attractive animal shapes and weighed with sand, went on her first crafts display table, at the annual farm tour of the York County Farmers' Association.

Invited to take part in a fire company crafts show, she began expanding the selection with items like whimsical stuffed mice, ducks, and sheep. Over the years, new items have been added regularly, including skunks and Scotty dogs, geese, squirrels, jointed horses, and the perennially-favored teddy bears.

"I try to stay with the things that are popular, and I'm always looking for new ideas and patterns," says this cheerful lady, who obviously enjoys each crafted "personality" which emerges from her basement workroom.

One of the most customer-pleasing items is Minerva's long-eared rabbit dolls, in various sizes and dressed in beautifully sewn clothing. Of all the items offered by the Luckenbaugh's, the rabbit doll remains the best seller.

Cow dolls, dressed in lace-trimmed, cow-print fabrics, are a more recent addition to the handcrafted dolls and animals created by Minerva Luckenbaugh.

"Of course, my heart's still in Holsteins," grins the former dairy producer.

So the recent addition of the cow dolls, some even dressed in cow-print fabrics, seemed a natural. Another cow-creation, as well as one in the popular sheep motif, fits over and adds a decorative touch to an everyday household broom.

"Anything I see that 'strikes' me, I'll try making up," is Minerva's approach to new ideas. "And sometimes there are special requests for things."

One request she has never been able to fulfill is for a realistic-appearing reproduction of a Black Angus. It is one pattern that has thus far eluded her. And, though Minerva often creates and alters patterns for specific designs, she has never been satisfied at any attempt to reproduce a small, stuffed design of the popular beef breed.

Lester has been a partner over the years in getting up and helping with Minerva's craft displays. More than a year ago, she asked Lester to lend a hand one day in cutting out the pattern bodies of some dolls. He proved so adept at it that Minerva now wonders how she managed without his help.

"He cuts the bodies, and I sew them together. Then he stuffes them, and I dress them," she explains of their efficient teamwork system.

After working so closely with both construction and manning the displays, Lester has become familiar with customer preferences. So, on occasion he makes the materials purchases at area fabric shops. One store manager, chuckles Minerva, now recognizes her hubby-assistant when he stops in on buying visits.

Fabric purchase is a critical part of the crafting, since the blending of fabrics and colors has a major impact on the eye appeal of the finished product.

The Luckenbaugh's constantly monitor consumer preference trends, paying close attention to what sells for them, for others, and the colors and fabrics ordered for their custom designs.

"Raspberry, peach and greens are popular right now," notes Minerva. "We generally buy small quantities of fabric since color trends can change pretty quickly. If something is selling really well, then we might stock up on extra." Calicos are what I use the most for dressing, and bodies are made of muslin."

Close attention is paid that adequate fabric is purchased to complete items. Even on the same fabric print, there are subtle differences in the shades produced in various dye lots. To Minerva's critical eye, even an almost indiscernible difference in shades stands out like the proverbial sore thumb. And, while fabric prices are always considered, quality is the foremost issue.

Sewing keeps Minerva busy several days each week, year round. One day she may sew all bodies, and on another, all dresses, or work only on eyes and facial features. Meanwhile, Lester may be busy shaping the dolls and animals with poly fiberfill material, their preferred stuffing material.

For the detailed features of animals, like beaks or small ears, Lester carefully pokes in stuffing material with the handle of a wooden spoon or end of a knitting needle. Spoon handles get a sandpapering first, so that the stuffing does not cling to rough spots on the wood.

"It takes something with a round end so it doesn't poke through the fabric," is a bit of advice he passes on to novice crafters.

While Minerva originally purchased commercially-made discs for use in the joints of dolls and animals with moveable limbs, Lester's farmer-honed fixing abilities devised a better method. From artboard, he cuts the size discs which are needed, then joins them with screws and locking nuts, for durable and free-moving finished joints.

"He's real good about helping," says Minerva of her "partner,"

Constantly busy, Minerva takes advantage of a lull in customers to work on "critters," Whimsical ornaments crafted of calico and teasel heads.

teasing him by adding, "And he doesn't talk back if it isn't right the first time; he just does it over."

"He works for all the farmers in the neighborhood," notes his wife. And, the couple grows a large garden each summer, canning dozens of jars of produce. Pickles and relishes are their specialties.

It was an injury - from a nail - to Lester's eye which spurred the Luckenbaugh's exit for dairying. For several years, they continued crop farming with their son, Richard, who now resides in Maryland. Daughter Adrian Messinger lives in nearby York. With their children residing close by, the Luckenbaughs are able to enjoy their four grandchildren.

"Back when we were milking cows, we thought we'd like to be able to travel; now we're not really that interested any longer in traveling," reflects the Spring Grove craftswoman.

"If there's something you want to do, you should try to do it now," she adds philosophically. "Too many people wait too long."

Always very community minded, the Luckenbaughs continue to contribute their time and talents to church and local organizations. Lester is a long-time member of the St. Peter's (Leishy's) Church choir and has served for many years on the board of the York County Extension Service.

Minerva's sewing talent's are a welcome addition to the church's annual craft bazaars and she helps with the group's turn at cooking for the downtown York's soup kitchen for the hungry.

"We really like doing this," Minerva says of the craft shows which keep them interacting with many interesting people. "Now we're getting to retirement age and really like to be out among people. Too many people just sit home after they retire and get grumpy."

She says it greatly amuses her to occasionally hear wives of retired men complain about having their husbands around the house all the time.

"I've told Lester he can't quit helping me," she says emphatically.

Lester grins, then hurries to the craft display to chat with a customer eyeing a lop-eared rabbit doll.

It appears he has no plans to quit. The Luckenbaugh's are simply having too much fun - making things which make others happy - for that.

Tips at Report Card Time

While you may be just getting adjusted to the back to school routine, it will not be long before you will be reciving that first report card. Maybe you already have some indications of how your child is doing in a certain subject.

I remember three years ago at this time, dreading the end of the first quarter of the semester. I was not doing well in my graduate statistics class, or at least I perceived I was not doing well. It was difficult to maintain a positive attitude about all my work while struggling with just one class.

Many parents give considerable thought to the many things you can do to make the first days of school pleasant. However, the job isn't done just when school days fall into an easy routine. probably the most important, and at the same time, most overlooked thing parents can do is to be affirming and understanding.

For a child, no experience will be as enduring as a parent's positive response. Nothing can replace the reflections of parents who know their children, care for them and use their knowledge and affection to help children grow and develop. Affirmations will last a lifetime!

Affirmations can deal with any area we choose to change; be it grades in school or social skills. Use simple positive statements in the present tense. Affirm what you want rather than what you want to eliminate and do it often are important reminders for all of us.

Understanding is really the most important grade when it comes to report card time. If there is a problem at school keep in mind these tips:

* Sit down with your child and look over the report card together.

* Praise your child. Find at least one good thing.

* Be calm. Let your child tell you about his or her grades -- whether they are good or bad.

* Ask how you can help your child do better in areas that need improvement.

* Make a plan with your child's teacher and your child to do better.

It is a very important role as parents to affirm and understand our children as they go through the educational process. After all, we all have a lifetime of learning ahead of us, so let's make it positive.

Berks Co. Apple Pie Tops Contest Entries

GRATZ (Dauphin Co.) — Twenty-four of the best country-baked apple pies were entered for the Gratz Fair's inaugural apple pie baking contest. It was a young mother from Shartlesville (Berks County) who did best to please the judges' palates.

Kim Miccicke was awarded first place and by doing so gained entry into the state apple pie baking contest to be held at the 1990 Farm Show.

For her win at Gratz she received $15, an apron and a ribbon.

The contest was judged by celebrities Chuck Rhodes, WHTM Channel 27 weatherman; Sally Klein, chairman of the Dauphin County Board of Commissioners; and Dave Stetler, Region 6 Director for the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The competition was very close as all three judges commented on how delicious the pies tasted. Other placewinners were Kathryn Teats, Millersburg, second; Violet Rummel, Halifax, third; and Pam Wiest, Halifax, fourth. Prize money for second, third and fourth was $12, $9 and $6, respectively.

On being a farm wife -And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Even from among the normal mid-morning sounds of everyday farm chores, this particular noise distinctly stood out.

This sound was definitely more shrill than the roar of the loader tractor, hauling off manure from the dairy-barn box stalls. This sound was louder than the distant bawling of a cow in heat, or the steady low hum of traffic down on the interstate.

And the sound was more harsh than the gusty winds, bending the maples ahead of the impending hurricane.

But it was a welcome sound, this gutteral screeching from the back yard. For like an adolescent whose voice deepens with maturity, these baby guineas were beginning to sound like the real thing.

Actually they are far from babies, though only about half their full mature size. Most of their mottled brown and black, chick-stage feathers have disappeared under the sleekness of adult plumage.

Three are feathered in a steely, blue-gray and the other two, a lavender so pale to be almost white. All five are overlaid from undersize heads to clawed feet with tiny white polka-dots.

A sixth one died when only ten days old. Originally one of the largest, it appeared to have suffocated one evening, with its head under the pile-up of sleeping chicks.

Intent of the guinea chick acquisition was to pacify the lone remaining guinea hen. At the ripe old poultry age of at least six or seven years, the hen is sole survivor of the flock of more than two dozen which once roamed the meadow and nearby fields.

In her apparent loneliness and instinct to raise chicks, she was a constant irritation to the bantam mothers. Though she never got away with stealing any of their babies, it surely wasn't due to her lack of trying.

But if she was going to raise chicks, it was going to be by her choice. Not ours. That became perfectly clear, after we had put the old bird together with the babies after they were two weeks old.

She didn't fight them. She didn't chase them. She simply ignored them.

After a week of this impasse, hen pouting in one side of the pen, chicks snuggled together in the other, we finally shooed her out one morning. She promptly stalked off across the back lawn, huffing away with a sort of "Guess I showed them" air about her.

Later we moved the fast-growing chicks to a more open pen, where they proved a complete fascination, for a day or two, to the cats. We could watch them better, enjoying their limited attempts to fly and chase one another for some tidbit of food.

Dead flies -- salvaged from the catch pan beneath the electronic fly "zapper" in the calf pan -- is their absolute favorite food. And they'll work over an ear of sweet corn until all that's left is a bare, ragged cob.

One morning two weeks ago, after changing their water, I left the door propped open. Within moments, they edged outside the wire pen, hesitantly checking out the grass and keeping wary eyes on the curious kittens.

Now they return only to roost -- which they usually do by flying up to sit atop the wire cage. Each day they venture a bit farther from the backyard pen. Last week, they found their way to the calf pen door, then squabbled over the scattering of dead flies I pitched.

But their favorite spot seems to be under cover of the thick stand of mature plants next to the woodshed. Beneath the protective canopy of thick foliage they stalk insects, take cover from showers, and root in the dirt.

It was from the hosta bed that their shrill, maturing call resounded. Though hidden in body, their spirited calls had betrayed their presence in the favored hideaway.

And then, from somewhere out in the field beyond the house, came a louder, more confident, answer. An answer from the old hen.

This whole effort might work out, after all.

Student Compares Africa Ag With U.S.'s

BY BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG — A visitor from Africa toured southcentral Pennsylvania recently, and was impressed with what she saw.

Lydia Kimeny of Nairobi, Kenya, visited rural Lancaster County and watched the dairy show at the Franklin County Fair the end of August during a break from her agricultural studies.

"You have wonderful farms in Pennsylvania. In Lancaster County the corn was so beautiful," she said. "The dairy animals are fantastic."

Farmers in Kenya have Holsteins and Guernseys, Kimeny said, but the animals are not purebreds, and produce only about half the amount of milk that American cows do.

Kimeny arrived in the United States in June as a participant in the Kenya Training for Development project. She spent a week in Washington, D.C. for orientation, then went to the Economic Institute in Boulder, Colorado, for five weeks to upgrade her skills in economics and math. After the break, during which she visited various agricultural communities in the U.S., she will begin studying for her PhD in Agricultural Economics and Production Economics at Michigan State University.

An assistant lecturer at the University of Nairobi for two years before she came to the U.S. to study, she will be promoted to the position of lecturer when she returns to Kenya, and in a few years will become a professor. She holds BSc and MSc degrees from the University, and is a member of the International Association of Agricultural Economists.

Kimeny, 33, has studied the nutritive value of various grasses fed to goats in western Kenya. The farms in Kenya are getting smaller, Kimeny explained. "The government wants each household to have enough milk for its own children," she said, and small farmers can keep goats more easily than they can keep cows. The project is still in its trial stages.

Her ongoing research projects include assessing the economics of irrigation in Kenya, and assessing the impact of genetic improvement programs for ruminant livestock, according to a press release from Ag Tech Associates.

The beef industry is strong in Kenya, according to Kimeny, and crops are the nation's main product for foreign exchange. Kenya exports coffee, tea, cut flowers and flower bulbs to Europe, she said.

Kimeny's husband, an animal geneticist, remained in Kenya with the couple's three children. Kimeny hopes to return to Kenya for a visit after completing two years of study.

Low Cholesterol Recipes For Heart Happy Eating

Heart and blood vessel diseases are still the leading cause of death in the U.S. The major cause of heart diseases is atherosclerosis, which stems from high blood cholesterol.

Cholesterol is a fat-like substance found in every cell of humans and animals. Cholesterol isn't all bad. It is vital for building cell walls, making vitamin D, and producing digestive juices. Cholesterol is also part of the protective insulation around nerve fibers and is necessary for the body to produce a variety of hormones.

Your liver produces all the cholesterol needed by the body. Cholesterol circulates in your blood. Your blood cholesterol level is determined by how much your liver produces and, to a lesser degree, how much is contributed by your diet. Heredity, diet, age, weight and exercise influence cholesterol levels.

The dietary cholesterol you consume does not necessarily determine the level of cholesterol in your bloodstream. Generally, the liver compensates for the cholesterol you eat by producing less cholesterol itself.

Reducing fat and dietary cholesterol doesn't mean that certain foods must be eliminated from your diet, for that can result in a deficiency of certain nutrients.

Don't eliminate eggs. Remember, eggs are low in saturated fat, and may easily fit into a heart healthy diet if prepared with low fat ingredients. You can easily lower the cholesterol content of many recipes by using two egg whites for one whole egg. Or simply use one whole egg and two egg whites when preparing omelets or scrambled eggs.

•Eat more fruits, vegetables, whole-grain breads and cereals that have less fat and no cholesterol.

•Choose vegetable oils such as canola, safflower, sunflower, corn and soybean oils.

•Choose skim or low-fat (1 percent) milk.

•Choose lean grades of meat and trim off visible fat. Prepare mixed dishes that combine meats with starchy foods, such as vegetable stews or pasta entrees.

•Limit meats, fish or poultry to 5 to 7 ounces daily.

•Bake, broil, steam or roast meat, fish or poultry instead of panfrying or deep-fat frying. Basting meats with its own broth, flavored vinegar, lemon or tomato juice or even water will prevent drying and enhance taste.

•Choose fish and poultry (without the skin) more often. Try a new recipe using dried beans or peas for a change.

•For a sweet tooth, choose sorbet (fruit ice), sherbet or low-fat frozen instead of ice cream.

•Cut down on commercially baked goods made with lard, coconut or palm oil, and shortening.

•Choose low-fat cheeses such as part-skim mozzarella and ricotta in place of regular varieties. For dips, try blenderized low-fat cottage cheese or nonfat yogurt instead of sour cream.

•Use a non-stick pan and vegetable oil pan-coating spray instead of butter, margarine or oil when sauteing, browning or frying foods.

For low cholesterol meals, try tossing diced, skinless chicken in a salad.

The Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Program offers the opportunity to qualified young women to make a personal contribution to the well-being of the dairy industry by devoting their spare time and talent to the promotion of its products for the period of one year.

This past year, 40 princesses together with 39 alternates participated in the following consumer oriented local promotions: 1,612 school programs, 562 store and mall promotions, 787 radio and T.V. programs, 672 newpapers articles, 415 appearances before non-farm audiences and 339 before farm groups. In addition, they appeared at a number of fairs, parades and public affairs representing the dairy industry.

Preserve Pumpkin For Good Eating

If you shop or even just drive by any of our farm markets, you see beautiful displays of pumpkins. Many people think of pumpkins only in terms of Halloween jack-o-lanterns and Thanksgiving pies. However, there are myriads of other possibilities.

Why not can or freeze (freezing results in a much better product) pumpkin now using the following methods, and then in the coming months try some of the untraditional recipes I am including in this column. I think you will find that they will become family favorites!

How To Can Pumpkin: Wash, remove seeds, scrape out fibrous material and peel. Cut into 1" cubes or strips. Place in a tightly covered kettle with just enough water to cover; bring to a boil. Boil 2 minutes.

Raw pack is not recommended.

Hot Pack: Pack hot pumpkin in strips or cubes, in hot jars to within 1" of jar top. Cover with hot cooking liquid, leaving 1" head space. Adjust lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure. Pints 55 minutes; quarts 90 minutes. Pints or quarts can also be processed at 15 lbs. pressure for 20 minutes.

Dear Readers,

We went to the Mason-Dixon Historical Society, Inc.'s 27th annual Steam and Gas Round-Up on Saturday and Sunday, September 9 and 10. It was held at the Carroll County Farm Museum in Westminster, MD. We had lots of fun even though it was very hot.

We entered the children's pedal tractor pull. We needed to pedal a John Deere tractor in a gravel driveway.

On Saturday, September 9, Amy Ridinger, 2 years old, pulled an empty sled one foot and 8 inches. She won a yellow participation ribbon with a pretty button on it. She was in the three years and under class.

Jason Ridinger, 5 years old, in the 4 and 5 year-old class, pulled five pounds for 11 feet and 2 inches. He also won a yellow participation ribbon with a pretty button on it.

We had so much fun, we wanted to go back and try again, and so we did. On Sunday, Amy pulled an empty sled one foot and six inches and won a second place gold trophy.

Jason tried his best and pulled five pounds for one foot and 10 inches. He won an yellow participation ribbon.

We enjoy driving our pedal tractor around home, too. Our parents are Arthur and Teresa Ridinger.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

One night last week I sampled some fabulous Mexican foods at a new restaurant. The next day I made the same fabulous foods in my microwave. I'd like to share the recipes with you.

First is Mexican Molletes, an open-faced sandwich on French bread — yes, French bread. A friend of Mexican descent said Molletes are authentically Mexican and are often served for brunch by the upper class. I like it for a quick and easy supper or snack.

Traditionally, the bread is toasted. I tested my recipe without toasting because I didn't (and I thought you wouldn't) want to heat the broiler. My friend said she splits the bread in thirds horizontally so it fits her upright toaster. Works great; so I added that option to my recipe below.

The cooking in Mexican Molletes is really just warming — to heat ingredients and melt the cheese. A Medium power works best here, so bread and cheese heat slower and don't end up tough and rubbery.

There's more cooking involved in Mexican Allambres. Traditionally, allambres is shish kabob. But for microwave cooking, stir-frying strips beef and vegetables gives better results than cooking beef cubes and vegetables on a skewer.

First, tender thinly sliced beef strips are marinated to take on a spicy flavor. They're micro-stir-fried until barely done. Then green pepper strips and onions are cooked briefly. Cooking is done on High power, but meat must be stirred often so each piece cooks to a tender doneness. Wrapped in a warm corn tortilla and topped with a creamy Mexican cheese, Chihuahua (a good substitute is Muenster or fresh Mozzarella), Mexican Allambres makes a delightful entree.

To taste "right" (because all the ingredients are bland-tasting), Mexican Molletes must be topped with salsa — whether it be a spicy fresh tomato salsa, or a full-flavored cooked tomato salsa. Salsa enhances Mexican Allambres, but is optional.

Cooked Salsa (below) is easy to make. Squeeze out most of the juice from tomatoes for fastest cooking. Microwaving time is about the same as range-top cooking time, but with microwaving, only a small amount of oil is needed and cleanup of the cooking dish is easy. I prefer fresh salsa, so I'm also sharing an easy non-microwave recipe.

Mexican Molletes

12-inch loaf of French bread
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 garlic cloves, halved
½ of a 16-ounce can refried beans
4 ounces Muenster cheese, thickly sliced
Salsa

Slice bread into 4 equal pieces; then sliced each lengthwise. Place bread, cut side up, on a microwave-safe large tray; set aside. Place oil and garlic in a microwave-safe custard cup. Microwave (High) 45 to 90 seconds or until garlic is soft. Discard garlic or mash it. Drizzle oil over cut sides of bread. Spread evenly with refried beans. Top each with cheese. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 4 to 5 minutes or until cheese barely starts to melt. Top each half with a generous helping of salsa, or pass salsa. Makes 4 large servings.

Hint: Keep ingredients on hand for a quick snack. For 1 sserving, use ¼ of ingredients. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts), 1½ to 2 minutes or until cheese barely starts to melt.

Note: Make these more authentic by toasting bread first. If you don't want to heat your broiler or toaster oven, slice bread pieces (or use small hoagie breads) into thirds and toast in a toaster. Adjust toppings accordingly.

Each serving: 461 calories, 16g protein, 22g fat, 48g carbohydrate, 796mg sodium, 27mg cholesterol.

Mexican Allambres

8 ounces boneless beef sirloin or top round steak
2 teaspoons lime or lemon juice
1-2 teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon ground cumin
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 medium green pepper, cut in ¼ -inch-thick slices
1 small onion, cut in ¼ -inch-thick slices
4 corn tortillas
2 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
2 ounces Muenster cheese, cut in thin strips
Garnish: salsa (optional)

Remove visible fat from beef. Cut into about ½ x¼ x2-inch strips. In 1-quart microwavable casserole, combine lime juice, spices and garlic powder; stir in beef. Marinate 10 minutes. Refrigerate if mixture needs to stand longer.

Cover casserole of beef with waxed paper; microwave (High) 2 to 3 minutes, stirring after each 1 minute of cooking. Beef should be rare to medium. Stir in pepper and onions; re-cover and microwave (High) 1 to 1½ minutes, stirring after each 45 seconds of cooking. Cook until vegetables are barely tender-crisp.

Meanwhile, place tortillas between paper towels. Microwave on Medium (325-350 watts, 50 percent power) 15 to 20 seconds. Spoon beef mixture onto each tortilla. Top with bacon and cheese. Pass salsa. Makes 2 large servings.

Each serving: 403 calories, 32g protein, 21g fat, 20g carbohydrate, 307mg sodium, 90mg cholesterol.

Cooked Salsa

3 large tomatoes, peeled if desired
1 large onion, chopped
1 can (4 ounces) chopped green (mild or hot) chilies
1 tablespoon cooking oil
1 clove garlic, minced
2-3 teaspoons ground cumin

Cut tops off tomatoes; squeeze each tomato to remove most seeds and juice. Discard juice and seeds. Coarsely chop tomatoes; combine with remaining ingredients in a microwave-safe 1-quart measure or bowl. Microwave (High) 8 to 11 minutes, stirring once, until thick. Serve warm or cold with Mexican dishes. Store tightly covered in refrigerator for up to 1 week, or freeze in small containers for up to 9 months. Makes 2 cups.

Each serving — 1 tablespoon: 9 calories, 0 protein, 0 fat, 1g carbohydrate, 33mg sodium, 0 cholesterol.

Fresh Salsa

Combine 1 clove minced garlic, 1 minced chili, ¼ cup chopped onion, ½ cup chopped green pepper, 1 cup chopped firm tomato, and ¼ cup chopped cilantro or parsley. Store tightly covered in refrigerator for 2 to 3 days, or freeze up to 9 months. (Texture will be soft after freezing.) Makes 1½ cups.

Hint: For speed, use your food processor fitted with the knife blade. Mince peeled garlic and seeded fresh chili. Add a small quartered onion and a medium quartered green pepper. Process until coarsely chopped. Add about 2 medium quartered firm tomatoes and chop with on-off pulses until coarsely chopped. Do not overprocess. Stir in hand-chopped cilantro or parsley. Makes 1½ cups.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

When the weather is wet and conditions dreary, it is easy to be depressed about a lot of things. This morning I discovered that when the farm dogs were loose they ran through my garden and flattened a long double row of sweet corn. And, a deliveryman broke an unusual flower plant in a pot that was near his work area.

We've just gone through the work of replacing a furnace in our cellar. Actually, my husband has done the work and I've lived through the long weeks. At his age, with a pick and shovel, he dug out an area under our house to install two 300-gallon fuel oil tanks. He had to carry the ground up a stairs -- five gallon bucketful by five gallon bucketful.

We now have a big furnace that burns both wood and fuel oil. As we sold a lot of timber off of our farm this spring, there remained many cords of firewood. This should heat our house for a few winters. If we forget to put wood in the furnace it will automatically switch to the fuel oil.

While all this was taking place, there was no hot water for a week. So, I learned to wash dishes in a dishpan again (as though I could ever forget) and take a bath with a basin of water. The four thermostats in our house must still be hooked up so that we'll have heat in the house.

Someone, I won't name names, stupidly started a fire in the furnace without knowing how to start the fan and smoked us out of the house. You would have thought that you were in a smokehouse that smoked hams. I'm hoping that one of these days all of the "bugs" will be worked out and we will be glad that we replaced the old coal furnace that I've filled daily all these years.

Tour Historical Homes In New Windsor

BY SHARON SCHUSTER
Md. Correspondent

NEW WINDSOR, MD. — With the flip of a calendar page comes the colorful, brisk month of October when mother nature begins her fling with an autumnal paintbrush. And on the first day of October, the new Windsor Heritage Committee will make the unpredictable month even more enticing with its second Tour of Historic Homes.

"This year's tour is a study in contrasts," explained the committee, headed by president, Steve Manning. Visitors will see fine Victorians, an early farmhouse, churches, a cabin and a castle. Yes, a castle.

Standing at the outskirts of town, is the Windsor Castle Hotel, circa 1913. And who better to take charge of a regal property such as this than Bruce and Claudia Jenkins, longtime residents of the English countryside. The wrap-around porch of the three-story frame structure invites visitors to follow the paths through the grounds shaded by monsterous oak trees. Once inside, enjoy 3 floors of the fine period furnishings, beautiful wood floors and oriental wallpapers.

A short drive to nearby Linwood takes tourists back into another century with a visit to Resurgum, a log house built in 1795. The small early log and brick structure was rebuilt and the environs neatly landscaped in 1981. Resurgum is a fine example of preservation to meet the demands of today's lifestyle.

Also in Linwood is Hedgeleigh. The beautiful cream colored brick home is an elegant well-preserved specimen which dates to 1876. The oversized green front door opens to a magnificent entry hall and red carpeted staircase. Home of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, it is beautifully furnished. Its magnificence spills into the back yard, shaded by huge old trees.

As contrast to Victorian elegance, the tour features the beautifully restored farm home of Chuck and Sharon Schuster. Resurvey on the Deeps is an operating grain and beef farm which has been in the Burleson family for four generations. The huge red bank barn is dated 1886. The old farmhouse was built in two sections, the earliest dating to about 1840. The front portion of the home was built in 1902.

The typical white frame two-story structure stood vacant for almost a decade and succumbed to the ravages of time and renters. "Everyone told us to put a match to it," explained Schuster. "So it was saved from the bulldozer."

Raymond Lippy spruces up the Schuster's barn with a fresh coat of paint. The barn was built by N.A. Brown in 1886.

The construction hasn't stopped. Over the summer, Chuck Schuster removed the small front porch and built a thirty-feet by twelve feet wide veranda which stretches from end to end. The white columns supporting the flat roof over the newly lain flagstone porch make it look "like an old plantation home." Weather permitting, visitors to the 150-acre site can enjoy the breathtaking views from hill top perches or take a stroll around the pond.

The jewel in the crown is the Englar-Metcalfe house, circa 1886. Perched atop a hillside just over the railroad tracks outside New Windsor is the large brick home of David and Barbara Duree. Ivy covered walls and a winding walk lead to the front door of this magnificently restored home. Inside, it is a feast for the eyes. Richly colored geometric and floral designed papers true to the period are framed by deep mahogany wood trim. Oriental rugs and Victorian furnishings fill every room. This home is back on the tour for the second year, "by popular demand. It was clearly the most talked about home last year," explained Manning.

Rounding out the tour is Ducks' Retreat, the Wakefield valley home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Rogers Hall; the Carriage House Studio, where Sharon and Rusty Rowland will give stained glass demonstrations; and the Strawbridge Shrine, circa 1760.

Tickets will be available at St. Paul's Methodist Church, 200 Main Street, New Windsor, Maryland on the day of the tour only. The sanctuary of this circa 1896 church is the first stop on the tour. Its semi-circular shape and beautiful stained glass windows are a sight to behold.

Visitors will be welcomed from 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. For those who wish to make a full day of it, a fine country breakfast will be served at a nominal price at the New Windsor Fire Hall from 7:00 a.m. until noon.

Visitors are always welcome at the church, service at 10:00 a.m. and at the nearby New Windsor Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, services at 9:00 a.m. There will also be a short video introduction about the town, from its beginnings in the 1700's as a tavern stop along the Monocacy Trail through its evolution to a farming community that also became a favorite medicinal springs retreat for city folk. For further information, call (301) 875-2054 or (301) 775-7371.

Under construction is Resurvey on the Deeps. The farmhouse on the grain and beef farm has now been restored and is open for the historical tour on October 1.

Four-H'er Steers Through Economics Project

BY LISA RISSER

STRASBURG (Lancaster Co.) — Eldon Ranck isn't much interested in the usual 4-H large-animal projects. Parading an animal in the showring before a judge just doesn't excite him.

It was youths like Eldon that Zoann Parker, Lancaster County 4-H agent, was after for her newest 4-H program—Holstein steers.

"I am teaching economics through this project," she stated. "Four-H has neglected marketing previously. I wanted a project that gave kids who don't have a place in large-animal 4-H, because they don't want to show an animal, a reason to stay in 4-H."

When the project began last year, those participating received verbal guidance as Parker drew up teaching guides and project books and fine tuned objectives. The first-year participants, such as Eldon, were asked to fe Holstein bull calf and keep what went into the ration a feed costs.

At the urging of his parents, Don and Ginny Ranck, Eldon decided to give the new project a try. "It fit me well because I didn't like leading calves and I don't have a lot of patience to prepare animals for show," he commented.

Eldon and his father, a dairyman with 56 Holstein cows and 122 acres, figured out the ration together for various stages of the calf's growth. The young bull calves were housed initially with the heifer calves and received milk, followed by milk replacer and free choice grain. Calves were weaned at four weeks and bulls separated from heifers.

Eldon, 15, keeps his steers in three pens, grouping them by weight and age. As he balanced the ration he had to take into account all ages and growth rates in order to meet all needs. "I had to decrease protein as they aged and replace it with energy and roughage," said Eldon. "The bigger the steer gets, the more grain you feed it."

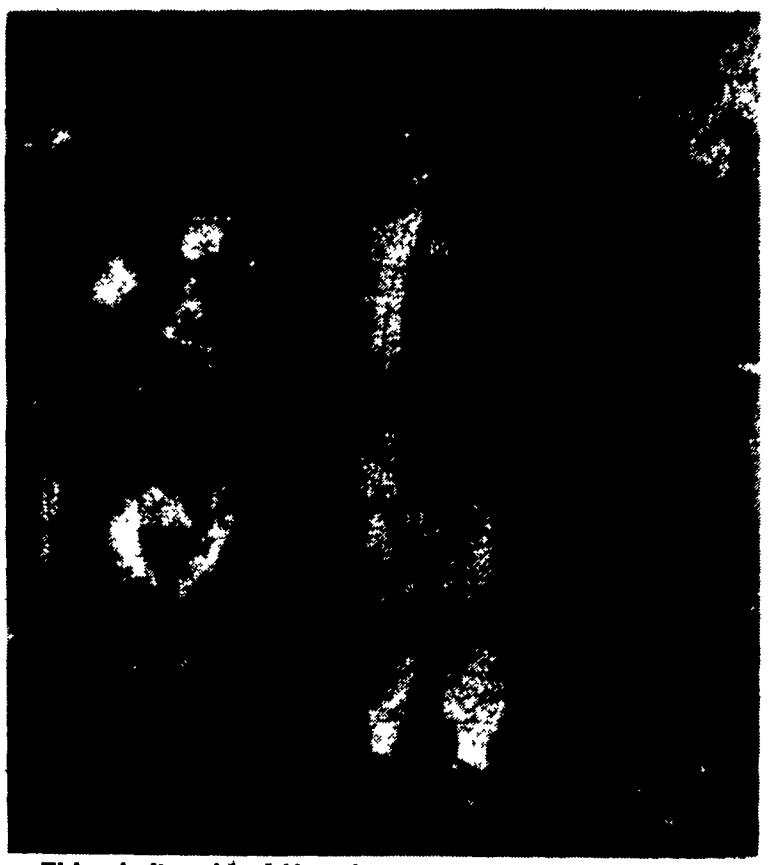
Eldon received a blue ribbon for his project, from which he has learned a lot. "I learned how to calculate rations, although I still need help," said Eldon. "But I'm better at figuring things out."

Youths who participate in the project next year will choose to follow either the grain or steer market and make decisions according to the market. Those watching the grain market will have to make conscious decisions on what to feed their steer based on market prices. Those with an eye on the steer market will have to decide whether to sell their animal as a feeder, sell it to a livestock market, or sell it cut, wrapped and frozen.

The project also will teach 4-H'ers what type of Holstein to raise as a steer. "A Holstein calf with a delicate bone structure or one that looks very dairy won't fill out and grade," explained Parker.

Anyone interested in participating in the program next year should get in touch with Parker at the Lancaster County Extension office. A county-wide meeting will be held in January.

Eldon Ranck, 15, received some help in formulating rations for his 4-H Holstein steer project from his father, dairyman Don Ranck of Strasburg. Eldon was required to keep track of feed amounts and costs as part of the project.



Eldon halters his 4-H project steer. It is penned with six others of which three will be taken to a state carcass competition.

Pennsylvania Dairy Princess And

BY LOU ANN GOOD

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Thirty-three contestants participated in the glamour, pageantry and style of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Coronation on Saturday, September 23 at the Mariott Inn, Harrisburg.

For Anne Mitchell, Berks County Dairy Princess, the 33rd annual pageant spelled victory in all areas of competition. Anne gardnered awards for her outstanding presentation, her creative scrapbook and in the end, the coveted state dairy princess title.

The blue-eyed blond intriqued the audience when she played Inspector Mitchell, a detective scouting for clues for missing dairy products. Dressed in a trench coat and with dark glasses perched on her nose, Mitchell paced the floor, like all good detectives do, while solving the mystery of the missing milk. Plenty of milk facts creatively interspersed throughout the presentation helped Mitchell solve the mystery.

The final question given to the seven finalist brought a thoughtful response from Anne. After comtemplating, she replied that she'd most like to gain the ability to smile through the worst situations and to understand others. "I'd like always to trust in God and in myself, and keep a smile and my head up," she said.

The first alternate, Mary Werner of Beaver-Lawrence counties, lives with her parents Harry and Sue Werner on their 600-acre dairy farm where they milk Jerseys and Holsteins.

In response to the final question, Mary told the audience she'd most like to gain more enthusiasm, stronger communication and help from the Lord.

Miss Lancaster County, Angela Spickler, was named the second alternate. This isn't the first state win for Angela, who has been named the 1989 Pennsylvania Outstanding Ayrshire girl.

Angela works with her parents, James and Linda Spickler, on their 110-acre farm where they milk 40 Ayrshires and Holsteins. A freshman at Elizathbethtown College majoring in economics, Angie, during the finalists' questioning, named wisdom as the most desired quality she'd like to gain. "It takes a great deal of wisdom to adapt to situations and help other people in the world," she said.

Other finalists included Tracy Blair of Sommerset County; Jodie

Grover Gouker, master of ceremonies for the pageant, congratulates Jodie Everly, Butler County dairy princess, for her outstanding scrapbook.

The newly crowned state princess hugged her mother, Sarah Mitchell.

Vicki McDaid of Washington-Greene added a light touch to the evening's program by portraying a child taking an airplane ride.

The seven finalists for the coveted state title included: (from left) Jenifer Lynn Grooms, Armstrong County; Angela Spickler, Lancaster County, Jodie Everly, Butler County; Anne Marie Mitchell, Berks County; Tracy Blair, Somerset County; Mary Werner, Beaver-Lawrence; and Kynel Bomgardner, Lebanon County.

Sitting on her wicker throne, Anne Marie Mitchell, begins her royal duties.

Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff and his wife Peggy share a humorous moment with Kimberly Bonzo, 1988-89 PA Dairy Princess. When Wolff addressed the contestants, he remarked that he feels like a thorn among 33 roses.

In her farewell speech, Kimberly Bonzo, 1988-89 PA dairy princess, waved farewell and threw kisses to the audience.

Alternates Crowned At 33rd Annual Pageant

Lynn Everly of Butler County; Jennifer Lynn Grooms of Armstrong County; and Kynel Bomgardner of Lebanon County.

In additional to the newly crowned princess, two others also received recognition for their outstanding presentations. Vickie McDade, representing Washington-Greene, portrayed an excited child on an airplane, who chatters about the benefits of milk to fellow passengers and to her teddy bear.

Amy Wolfgang of Montgomery County solved a building block puzzle for her presentation.

The coveted Miss Congeniality award went to Dienna Marie Wolfe, representing Elk County. Dienna lives with her parents, David and Florence Wolfe, on Green Achers farm where they raise Holsteins, corn, oats, barley and hay.

Scrapbook judges Everett Newswanger, managing editor of Lancaster Farming, and Christine Meissner of the American Dairy Association, said that winning entries displayed artistic page layout in addition to noticiable high quality content.

Judges for the pageant included Lowell Lindsay of United Breeders, Canada; Dr. Frank Wright, professor from New Jersey; Bonnie Ayars, from Land of Living Farm, Ohio, and Marcia Remsberg of Middletown, Md.

Kimberly Bonzo the 1988-89 princess said that the occasion is both a sad and glad one for her. Although she relinquished her crown, she said, "I hold tight to memories."

Jan Harding, program director for the Pennsylvania dairy princess and promotion services, said that Kimberly was the fifth daughter she had acquired through the program and it is not easy to say good-

Judges for the pageant included (from left) Lowell Lindsay, Bonnie Ayars, Dr. Frank Wright, Master of Ceremonies Grover Gouker, and Marcia Remsberg.

Sarah and William Mitchell, the proud parents of the newly crowned dairy princess, are introduced to the audience.

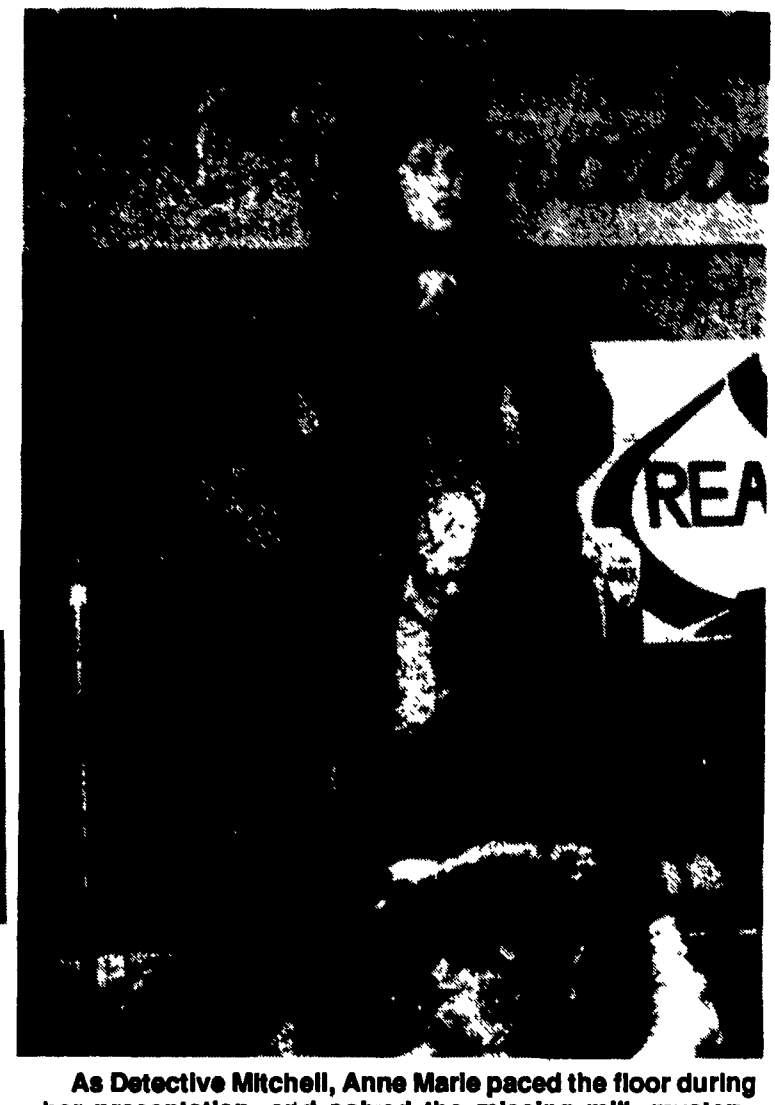
Katelyn, the youngest person to attend the pageant, is getting groomed to become a dairy princess. She is the niece of Kim Bonzo, 1988-89 PA Dairy Princess.



As Detective Mitchell, Anne Marie paced the floor during her presentation, and solved the missing milk mystery.

Stockman's Gala To Feature Country Music

An evening of food, fun and entertainment is planned for Friday, October 6, at the 1989 Keystone International Livestock Exposition. The "Stockman's Gala" is being planned so that as many exhibitors and friends of the livestock industry as possible can attend.

In order to facilitate those who have cattle at the show, the party will be held right in the Farm Show Complex. The catered buffet supper has incorporated into it beef, pork and lamb as your main course items. The event will begin at 7:00 so that as many exhibitors as possible can attend.

Those Pennsylvania Boys will provide toe-tappin, foot-stompin', country-western entertainment, and the entire evening promises to be good old-fashioned fun. Don't worry about getting "dressed-up" to attend; it will be "come as you are."

During the evening, the Pennsylvania Livestock Man of the Year will be recognized, and the 4-H and FFA Youth Awards will be given.

Why don't you "Lead the Stampede" and order your ticket today. Tickets for the Gala are $15 each and are available from Beverly Snyder, Box 158, Emlenton, PA 16373. Make checks payable to P.L.A. Your tickets will be reserved for you at the door.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition Show is sponsored by the PA Livestock Association in cooperation with the PA Department of Agriculture and the PA Farm Products Show Commission.

Why not plan to "Spend Some Time In The Country" at the 1989 Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Those Pennsylvania Boys will provide country music entertainment at the Stockman's Gala, held during the Keystone International Livestock Exposition. The gala will begin at 7:00 p.m. on Friday, October 6.

Whipped cream cheese makes an ultra-rich topper for hot desserts such as fruit cobblers, deep-dish pies, gingerbread and fruit breads.

Warm pudding makes a delicious ice cream topper. Serve it alone or spiked with amaretto or praline liqueur or melted peanut butter, preserves, or marshmallow cream.

Make an ice cream pie? There's nothing to it. Simply press a quart of softened ice cream into a 9-inch pie shell. Top with ice cream sauce, nuts, and/or pureed fruit. Freeze till serving time. Then garnish with whipped cream and chocolate curls.

Canine Champs Chosen At Maryland Fair

TIMONIUM, MD. — Amid the crowds and confusion, 4-H'ers and their canine companions demonstrated the power of positive thinking — and practice — at the Maryland State Fair 4-H Dog Show in Timonium August 28. More than 40 young trainers vied for top honors in 11 obedience and fitting-and-showing categories.

Among the winners were some familiar faces, including Tara Andrews, 11, from Riva and Bos'n, a three-year-old Schipperke, who repeated last year's performance to win the junior open fitting and showing competition. The enthusiastic pair also earned top honors in the junior sub-novice obedience competition, becoming the only team in the show to win two blue ribbons.

Kerry Opel, 18, from Owings and her six-year-old Akita Bella, bettered last year's second place finish to capture first prize in the senior open fitting and showing competition.

Both girls edged out other seasoned competitors by preparing and presenting their dogs to best advantage. The judge evaluated the dogs' appearance and physical condition and the 4-H'ers ability to handle and display their pets.

Other fitting-and-showing winners were Margaret Cohill, 13, from Columbia and her one-and-a-half-year-old Australian Shepherd, Hermanos Grimm, who earned first place in the senior novice category, and Karen Weedy, 13, from Bethel, who continued a family tradition by earning first place in the junior novice class with Alante, a two-and-a-half-year-old basenji. Her older brother, Aaron, won first prize in the senior open fitting and showing competition in 1987 and 1988.

In addition to looking good, canine competitors in the obedience categories demonstrated exemplary behavior on and off lead. Particularly impressive were the dogs in the graduate novice classes who sat — and later laid down — on command and remained there for three minutes after their trainers had left the ring.

First place in the junior level of this category went to Erika Wunderlich, 11, from Taneytown (and her four-year-old German Shephard, Scorpio, who won last year's junior novice obedience competition. Angela Corden, 15, from Clarksville and her five-year-old mixed breed dog, Sheish, took the blue ribbon in the senior class.

First prize winners in the other obedience classes were

Junior Sub-Novice: Tara Andrews, 11, from Riva (Anne Arundel County).

Senior Sub-Novice: Michael Kuster, 14, from Frederick (Frederick County).

Junior Novice: Heather King, 13, from Baltimore City.

Senior Novice: Holly Steg, 15, from Fallston (Harford County).

Junior Open: Kelly Glorioso, 9, from Hydes (Harford County).

Margaret Cohill, 13, of Columbia, Md., and her 1½ -year-old Australian Shepherd, Hermanos Grimm, won the senior novice fitting and showming division at the 4-H dog show in Timonium last month.

Kelly Glorioso, 9, of Hyeds, Md., and Kelly's Blue Silk, her three-year-old Shetland Sheepdog, were champions in the junior open division obedience class in the 4-H dog show at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium last month.

Hogs, Sheep And Steers Sell At Quarryille Fair

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.)—They did it again. Ferguson and Hasssler Supermarket bought the grand champion steer at the Fair here last Friday night. This year, the 1,270-pound Black Angus shown by Rudy Allen of Nottingham brough $5.15 for a total of $6,540.50. That was 15 cents a pound more than last year and cost the market an additional $240.

When Tim, Jim and Chip Hassler came into the sale ring to be photographed with their new purchase, they announced that they would donate the steer back to be sold again to support the fair. Receipts at the annual event were diminished because Hurricane Hugo threatened the tents and exhibitors and the crowds left earlier in the day. Therefore in the second time around, Dwight Wagner bid $1.50 per pound for the champion that amounted to a $1,905 donation by Ferguson and Hassler.

Herr and Leaman Farm Equipment of New Providence paid the second high price of $1.75 for a 1,150-pounder shown by Brent Risser, and Ryan Rohrer's 1,230-pound reserve grand champion brought $1.15 from Jim Kreider of K&S, Inc.

Prices for 11 other FFA project steers averaged $1.05.

In the hog sale, the top price of $4.25 per pound or $1,073 was paid for the show's grand champion shown by Mike Phillips of Holtwood. Phillips' entry was a 244-pound cross bred gilt purchased by Powl's Feed Service. This was a Fair record exceeding the top previous purchase price by $1.80 per pound. Powl's also purchased 17 other hogs in the 102-head sale.

Kathy Brown's reserve grand champion, a 244-pound Duroc, sold for $3.60 per pound or $878.40 to Hatfield Quality Meats.

The champion sheep, owned by Donna MacCauley was purchased by Ration Maker East for $3.10 per pound or $3.90.60. Willie the Butcher paid the second highest price for another MacCauley entry--$2.35 per pound or $296 total.

In all, 27 other sheep in the sale averaged $1.13 per pound.

John Swayne purchased three sheep for a total of $155Q and donated the animals for resale to support the fair. A subsequent bid of $1.00 per pound from J. Kreider and Sons netted the fair $738.

Other major livestock buyers included: Agway, Walter M. Dunlap, Keystone Farm Credit, Hess Catering and Hess's Butcher Shop, Welk Crest, Fulton Bank, Farmers First, Bank of Lancaster County, Huber Feeds, Prange's 22 Service Center, Gwaltney Packing, Frey Brothers, Musser's Market and state Rep. John E. Barley.

Randy Allen sold his grand champion steer to: (l to r), Tim, Jim and Chip Hassler, Ferguson and Hassler Supermarket for $5.15 per pound or $6,540.50.

Robert E. Powl, Powl's Feed Service paid $4.25 per pound or $1,073 for Mike Phillips' grand champion hog.

Nevin Kegerreis from Ration Maker East purchased Donna MacCauley champion lamb for $3.10 per pound or $390.

Litter Mates Win Reading Swine Show

BY VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

READING (Berks Co.) — Brian Gougler and Nate Leatherman garnered the top honors at the Reading Fair swine show last week with litter mates. The two medium middleweights weighted in at 207 pounds each, and the spotted hogs were strikingly similar in appearance. The pigs were out of a sow owned by past 4-H member Steve Rohrbach of Shoemakersville. Alyse Strause of Hamburg owned the boar. A swine club member, Stause exhibited two second-place market hogs at the event.

Judge Rodney Gilbert picked Gougler's animal because of its stretchy frame and fine muscling. It was Gougler's first grand championship.

Stricker of the Hamburg Area FFA exhibited the top pair of swine. The pair of heavyweight Durocs were bred by Stricker. Jason Keller of Fleetwood showed the reserve champion pair.

Tammy Balthaser of Bernville was selected as the top fitter followed by Jason Keller. In the top showmanship spot was Randy Balthaser with Gougler taking the reserve rosette.

Gelsinger, Grim Garner Beef Grands

BY VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

READING (Berks Co.) — Tammy Gelsinger and her Simmental summer yearling had a fine day at the Reading Fair beef show last week. She started the afternoon right by having her animal named as the grand champion female of the show. Then after spending a grueling half hour fitting her market steer, she was named reserve champion fitter behind Amy Eshelman. Next the 14-year-old beat out experienced showman Greg Stricker for grand champion showman honors. Finally her lightweight steer won its class.

Tammy was most pleased with her female. "She is the first one I ever bred and owned. I have a Charolais as well," Gelsinger explained.

Jason Grim, left, holds the champion market steer of the Reading Fair. The reserve champion rosette went to the Angus cross shown by Todd Rabenold.

Only Jason Grim, an 11-year-old from Mertztown, had as much to celebrate as Gelsinger. Grim's 1,229-pound Angus steer was named grand champion of the market show followed by Todd Rabenold's 1,133-pound Angus cross.

Grim, a member of the Lehigh County Baby Beef Club, will be showing his animal at the county roundup and sale in October.

Rabenold also will be selling his steer in October at the Berks County 4-H roundup.

MODEL 4310 SUNFLOWER DISC-RIPPER

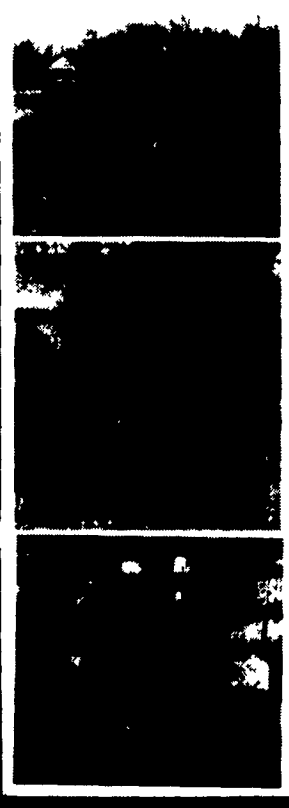
A hydraulically controlled 3-point hitch allows independent depth control of disc and ripper. Depth adjustments can be made on the go - it's simple, easy.

Walking tandems on the Disc-Ripper are superior to single wheels or conventional duals because they conform to uneven ground.

Sunflower's parabolic ripper shank features a lifting action, drawing the implement downward and shattering the subsoil.



The unique leveling system is similar to those used on conventional discs, permitting simple front-to-rear adjustments for different drawbar heights. Once adjusted, the machine will remain level when lifted from transport to field position.

The heavy-duty Model 4310 tongue is constructed of 4"x6" tubing, fastened to the machine by 1½" pins and features a 4" wide clevis. The clevis pivots on a 1½" bolt and is equipped with a hardened wear bushing to eliminate hitch pin wear. There is also an additional tongue jack mount allowing jack storage during field operation.

The disc gang cutting angle is adjustable with settings of 14°, 17° and 20°. The selected angle is maintained by a positive lock that prevents the heavy 4"x5" rectangular gang bar from moving. Sunflower's wide disc main frame provides outstanding gang-bar support and allows wide wheel placement for unmatched stability during operation.

Sunflower C-Flex™ Bearing hangers with trunnion-style bearings and stress-proof alloy steel 1¾" gang shafts provide an unbeatable combination. The 1"x3" C-Flex™ hanger absorbs shock normally transferred to gang bearings. As the C-Flex™ hanger moves, the entire trunnion-style bearing automatically aligns, eliminating wear between the bearing and housing (as with conventional gang bearings). Bearings are triple sealed and have steel washers to protect the seal.

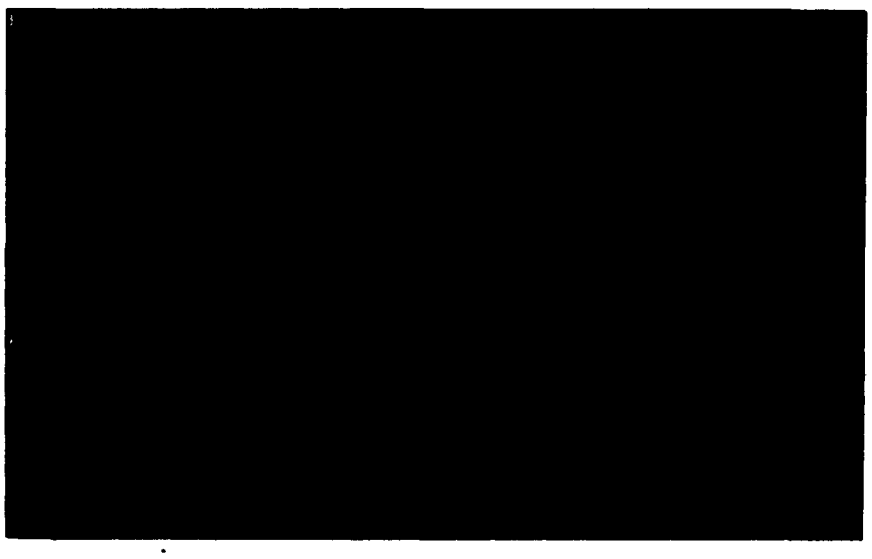
CHECK OUT THE SUNFLOWER DISC HARROW BEFORE YOU BUY A FINISHING DISC -Our Customers Tell Us They've Never Owned A Disc As Good As A SUNFLOWER!

■ Leveling-Second To None ■ Blades - ¼"x22" Most Popular Choice ■ Transport Width - 12'4"
■ Bearings-3 Year Warranty ■ Gang Axles - 1¾" (UP To 24" Discing Width)



The Model 1232 disc harrow is a medium weight disc that capably handles primary-through-finish-discing operations. An all welded frame features even weight distribution for uniform penetration and the three flexible sections assure that rough, rolling and terraced ground will be tilled evenly and smoothly. Larger tires provide excellent flotation, unmatched depth control and the base for level discing. Like all Sunflower Discs, the 1232 is loaded with features that give it a definite edge over competitive brands. These features enable the 1232 to always provide a level job of discing, regardless of terrain, a rephasing-lift system to minimize wear points, dual scrapers at bearing hangers to prevent plugging, cushion gang hangers to absorb shock, and trunnion style gang bearings with a full three year warranty. You've got to pull one in the field to appreciate why Sunflower's 1232 Disc Harrow is America's best built disc. Cutting widths available from 18' to 32'.

The Model 1211 Disc Harrow is Sunflower's discing answer for America's smaller farmers. It is available in rigid models only and matches tractor horsepower in the range of 110 and lower. With exception of gauge wheels, the 1211 has all of the same outstanding features common to the 1232. It's tough, heavy, and capable of performing primary and finish discing operations. You'll like the way it cuts the soil, leaving your field in a ridge free condition. The 1211 truly meets the toughest standards earning it the label as America's Best Built Disc. Cutting widths available from 10' to 15'.

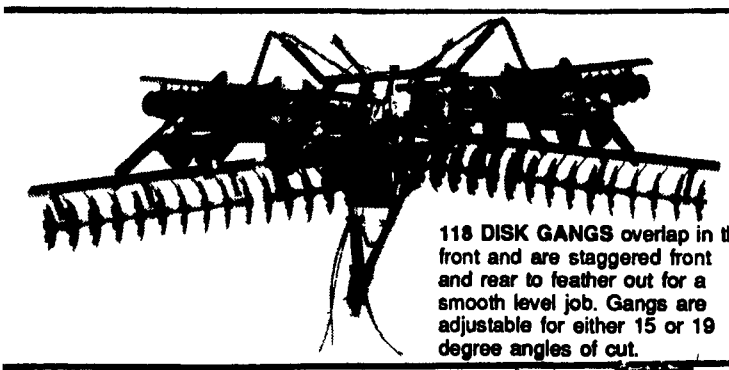
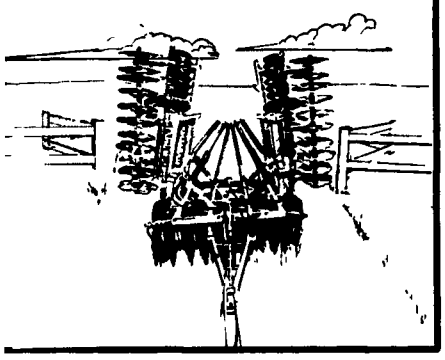
ATHENS

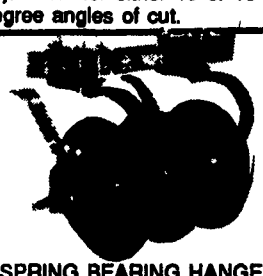
MODEL 118 DOUBLE OFFSET DISK



118 DISK GANGS overlap in the front and are staggered front and rear to feather out for a smooth level job. Gangs are adjustable for either 15 or 19 degree angles of cut.

118 NARROW TRANSPORT WIDTH 11'4"

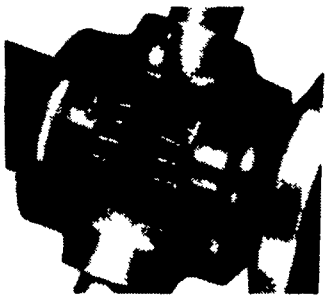




SPRING BEARING HANGERS with QUADRASEAL Double row Tapered roller bearings are standard on the 118. This heavy duty 1"x2" Spring bearing hanger provides maximum strength with maximum flexibility, which reduces downtime. QUADRASEAL Tapered bearings are Trunion mouted to the spring bearing hangers to allow the gang to flex freely without undue stress being placed on the Gang axle.

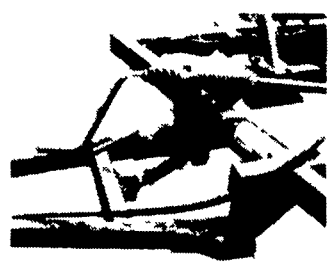
TAPERED DISKS—COVER DISKS The 118 has Triple tapered disks on the outside rear gangs and a single taper on the outside front gangs. These gangs provide for a smooth, level, ridge free job. Standard equipment on 118.

118 HEAVY-DUTY SCRAPERS. The 118 is equipped with heavy-duty Scraper Arms and 3/16" x 5" Blades. Athens Scrapers are fully adjustable and provide excellent Disk cleaning and trash clearance. Heavy-duty Scrapers are standard equipment on all 118 models.



THE QUADRASEAL® double-row tapered roller Bearings provide the most capacity in the industry. With this extra capacity, the probability of overloading... even when disking at maximum angle... is virtually eliminated. The double-row Bearing has a triple-lip Seal that runs on a hardened, polished surface and has a heavy steel seal-protecting Washer to protect the seal from damage due to wire and trash. Between the steel Washer and the Seal is a cavity filled with grease... an additional sealing element against dirt.

QUADRASEAL WHEEL HUBS are an exclusive ATHENS PLOW design for increased Bearing life and reduction of downtime. Our QUADRASEAL Wheel Hubs offer maximum protection from dirt and trash by combining a triple lip seal with a press fitted external trash flinger. The QUADRASEAL Bearings give added bearing life.



118 LEVELING SYSTEM keeps the Frame level in the field and in transport. After hitching the reversible Clevis to the tractor, a Turnbuckle adjusts the Tongue position to level the Disk Frame in transport. In the field, a Leveling Screw that connects the Tongue to the Wheel Carriages is adjusted for field conditions and disking speed desired. After initial adjustment, the 118 remains level while being lifted and lowered. A Turnbuckle connects the Wheel Carriage for precise side-to-side leveling.

When Buying A NEW COMBINE

DON'T OVERLOOK THE CASE IH AXIAL FLOW ADVANTAGE

the single rotor

With the SINGLE AXIAL FLOW ROTOR you get:

1) INCREASED PRODUCTION by the ability to start combining earlier in the day, and to keep combining later into the night.
2) BETTER GRAIN QUALITY because the ROTOR'S threshing action is much gentler than a conventional combine's cylinder.
3) LESS MAINTENANCE because there is NO strawwalker system to repair.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE HOOBER SERVICE ADVANTAGE

HOOBER'S experienced service people

With HOOBER'S experienced SERVICE PEOPLE you get.

1) Fulltime Combine mechanics who work on combines year round, not just when you have a problem.
2) PEOPLE WHO CARE about your problems and want to fix them fast, so that you can get back to the field.
3) RECONDITIONED COMPONENTS which are not for sale, but are strictly reserved for use by the SERVICE DEPARTMENT to insert in customers machines who have major component failures.

Brillion LANDSCAPE SEEDERS

crush clods, deposit and cover the seeds in one operation.

Seeds are precisely deposited in the top ¼ " of a firmed clod-free seedbed. This labor-saving 5'4" model is extremely maneuverable for working close to buildings and fences.
Stop in and ask about Brillion's 5'4" Landscape Seeder or the 10' Turf-Maker.

Brillion DEEP TILLS

penetrate the soil as deep as 18 inches to break up plow sole and hardpan.

Moisture from snow and rain is absorbed deep into the soil. Topsoil is left rough and a certain amount of residue remains to combat wind and erosion. Deep Tills are available in widths of 7'6" to 27'6" with optional coulters for cutting residue.

Find out more about the value of deep tilling...stop in and we'll talk

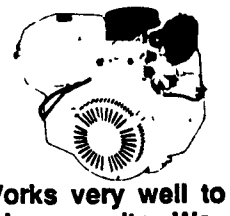
SALES-SERVICE-ENGINE DISTRIBUTOR



This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit to you. (Lancaster County Only)

We offer in the field emergency service on baler engines.

Gypsy Hereford Family Sold During Autumn Harvest Classic Sale

BY GINGER S. MYER
Adams Co. Correspondent

FAIRFIELD (Adams Co.) — The heart of one of the Polled Hereford breed's most popular breeding families was sold Saturday, September 9, at the IV Autumn Harvest Classic Sale held at Spring Bottom Farm, Fairfield, PA. In one of the annual highlight sales of the breed, Frank and Becky Darcey sold out most of their members of the famed "Gypsy" family.

This offering was made possible only because of persisting health problems experienced by Frank. Hoping to resolve the problem, the Darcey's have retained 10 head of seed stock who through embryo transfer work, they may elect to re-build their herd.

The fountainheads of the family remained in the Keystone State with Friendly Persuasion Farm, Lebanon, purchasing both the grand-dam and the dam of the National Champion, Gold Trophy dam, SBF Royal Gypsy.

SBF Royal Trams AM, the dam of Gypsy, sold for $3,100. She sold with a heifer calf by SBF Royal Drum Major at foot and bred back to Raceway. The Darceys have sold $74,500 worth of calves from this near Gold Trophy cow.

Friendly Persuasion Farm paid $1,600 for Gypsy's grand-dam, SBF Royal V ctress, an 11-year-old cow. A Benchmark Dam, she sold with a Drum Major bull calf at foot.

Gypsy's paternal Granddaughter SBF Royal Victoria sold for $2,550 to Lucky Acres Farm, Waynesboro. A Cherry daughter, her first calf will go on to be at the Pennsylvania Bull Test. She is now bred back and due February, 1990, to Rifle.

A sister to Gypsy commanded a final bid of $2,500 from Larry Gilderhaster, Virgil, S.D. Born May, 1986, she sold safe in calf to Remintall Teamster.

An own daughter of Gypsy sold to Jack Abrams, Stoneridge Farm, Livingston, N.Y. for $2,200. Just a yearling, this promising heifer was sired by National Champion Broker.

Another Darcey consignment commanding top dollar was SBF Royal Blue Belle a March, 1985, cow due January to Nick the Butler. Poplar Grove Farm, Ky., bought her for $2,325.

In addition to Darcey's consignments this year's sale also contained prime breeding stock from Penn State University, University Park; Flat Stone Lick Farm, Les and Joe Midla, Marianne; Stockdale Hereford Farm, Dayton; and Keith and Linda Rooker, Uniontown.

Top-selling consignment from Flat Stone Lick Farm was a fancy heifer calf by Raceway born January. Sandy Hill Farm, Frederick, Md., bought her for $2,175.

Sandy Hill Farm was also the buyer of the high-selling consignment from Stockdale Farm. They paid $2,000 for an outstanding heifer calf born February by Precedence and out of a Stick daughter.

Rusty and Randy Pettit, Sagamore, paid $2,000 to own Rooker's top selling consignment Boyd Lady Rolex. She is a Rolex daughter who most recently was reserve junior champion at the Pennsylvania Junior Preview Show.

A young two-year-old cow by Nomad was the top-selling consignment for Penn State University. Longview Polled Hereford, Westminster, Md., was the buyer of this 3-in-1 package: the cow, her heifer calf at foot by Prophet, and the cow bred back to Knight Ryder.

Another consignment that drew a flurry of bids was the opportunity to buy a quarter interest in SBF Royal Red Rose. Rose has 29 SOF points and will probably make gold Trophy. All her calves have scored frame seven or better. The syndicate share sold for $2,500 to Paradise Farm, Dover. They replaced Rock Run Ranch who is dispersing.

The sale averages were as follows: 1½ bulls sold for $3,725 to average $2483; 45¼ females totaled $73,805 to average $1,631; the total sale sold for $77,553 to average $1,658 on all lots selling.

Members of the SBF Royal Gyspsy family highlighted this year's Autumn Harvet Classic sale, held earlier this month at Spring Bottom Farm in Fairfield. Gypsy, pictured here, was a nationla champion of the 1985 Western Stock Show and several other members of the family having obtained national attention in Polled Hereford shows.

Livestock Ledger

By
Chester D. Hughes

Extension Livestock Specialist

Both cattle feeders and cow/calf operators should make a current inspection of their corrals, catching, and holding facilities as autumn is typically the time of year in our region when vaccinating, deworming, and weaning procedures occur. Whether you are receiving feeder cattle or preconditioning weaned calves, working facilities in good repair will make the task easier. Replace worn and broken boards, tune up the headgate, and keep safety first in your mind during the inspection process.

Preconditioning of feeder calves at the farm of origin has been proven to reduce losses incurred at the feedlot. Recent studies have shown that respiratory diseases cause 80 percent of all losses in feedlot cattle. Normally this results in a 1-2 percent death loss with the major economica losses being recognized as increased time to start cattle gaining, treatment costs, and shrink. The total cost of these losses are estimated to be $15-25 per head for every animal entering the feedlot. The following list of recommendations from Bill Greene, Extension Associate at Cornell University should assure the highest level of performance and minimize the stress involved in weaning beef calves:

* Castrate and dehorn calves when they are less than 60 days of age or at least 45 days prior to marketing date.
* Vaccinate calves 10-14 days prior to weaning and start on ration to be fed after weaning.
* Physically weaning the calves should occur at least 21-30 days prior to the marketing date.
* Observe calves for any symptoms of disease such as drooping ears, running noses, coughing or scours.

SHEEP

Forage production and health are the main topics for the Fourth Annual Shepherd's Symposium to be held at the Sheraton Lancaster, December 8 and 9th. New this year is a mini-tour scheduled for the afternoon of December 7 with an evening program on lamb marketing to be held at the Lancaster County Farm and Home Center.

Dr. Robert Van Keuren, Ohio State University will address such topics as 1) pasture systems for extending the grazing season, 2) optimizing forage use during the gestion and lactation production phases. An added feature this year will be the presence of infrared forage analysis equipment for evaluationg forage quality and nutritive value. Such information on your home-grown forages has proven be be both a big money saver on the winter feed bills and also a great teacher in acquiring a better understanding of forage quality and its impact on production.

Lamb mortality diagnosis and prevention, ovine progressive pneumonia, external parasite control and the prevention and treatment of nutritional disorders e.g. Ketosis are some of the major topics to be discussed by Dr. Joe Rook of Michigan State University and Dr. Thomas Drake and Dr. Robert Smith of Penn State University.

For the hand craft folks and those interested in starting a small business, we have invited Dr. Jim Beierlien, Penn State University to speak on "Small Business Management and Marketing". Ms. Ginny Mutto of Huntington County will be conducting several workshops on handspinning.

Beginning shepherds will be interested in attending the workshop session on "Getting Started Right With Sheep" a topic to be addressed by Dr. Ron Parker of Henning, Minnesota. Dr. Parker is the author of the handbook for the modern Shepherd titled "The Sheep Book" pub. Charles Schribner's Sons, N.Y.

Other workshop sessions will be available on 1) Sheep handling concepts and equipment, 2) Ventilating existing sheep facilities, 3) Extending your grazing season using brassicas and 4) A lean lamb production and marketing program for Pennsylvania producers.

Tour and program brochure materials are available by calling your local county extension office of the PSU Conference Center on campus (814) 865-8301. All advance lodging reservations can

Stock Dog Training Clinic Scheduled

NEW TRIPOLI (Lehigh Co.) — Jack Knox, noted stockdog trainer, will conduct a handlers' training clinic on October 13 through 15 outside of New Tripoli. The clinic is sponsored by Steve and Roxanne Shank Krysak.

Knox, who competes in and judges sheepdog trials, will instruct handlers how to encourage dogs to modify its instinctive desire into productive working behavior. The two-day clinic is structured to be beneficial to novice handlers and dogs as well as to the more experienced handler.

The clinic will have three sessions one for novice dogs, one for started dogs and novice handlers, and another for dogs and hadlers capable of a trial course. In the last session, Knox will work on the dog's weaknesses and concentrate on informing the handler what Knox would look for if he were judging the dog.

The fee for Saturday and Sunday is $65 per dog, plus a refundable sheep damage deposit of $25. The deposit should be written on a separate check, which will be returned at the end of the clinic, or destroyed if not picked up. If there is sufficient interest, a the clinic will be extended another day, with the cost of the third day being determined by the number of people attending. If 10 people sign up for the third day, the cost will be an additional $30—more if fewer people sign up, less if more people attend.

Casual spectators may watch the clinic free of charge, while interested spectators and handlers without a dog who attend for a good part of any day will be charged $12 per day, or $20 for two days.Family members attending the clinic with a participating handler will not be charged the spectator fee.

Attendees should bring chairs and clothing suitable for any weather conditions. A lunch wagon will be on the premises to provide breakfast and lunch foods, or attendees can "brown bag" it. There will be a group dinner in Fogelsville on Saturday for anyone who is interested.

Applications, which should be accompanied by a check, will be honored on a first-come basis. Advance reservations of breeds other than Border Collies is recommended, and checks will be returned if there is not enough space available. Space is limited to 22 dogs.

For more information, contact Roxanne Shank Krysak, R.D. 2, Box 2699, New Tripoli, PA 18066; 215/285-2021 evenings and weekends.

Scientists Study Human Growth Hormones On Sheep

Scientists at Cornell University have a human growth hormone, called a "growth hormone releasing factor" (hGRF), in lambs that show results of improved growth rate, feed efficiency, and carcass quality. Donald H. Beerman, Cornell's associate professor meat science, believes the growth hormone releasing factor has the potential to be used as an alternative to growth hormones or somatotropins. Test data revealed the total amount of carcass fat decreased by 14 percent, and the amount of protein in the carcass increased by 15 percent when the hormone was used. Animal growth hormones are species specific; however, the human growth hormone releasing factor works in humans as well as different animals by stimulating the pituitary glands to secrete more growth hormone. SWINE

This past summer I ran across an interesting article by Marlys Miller in the "Pork '89" magazine, June issue, that may be useful for swine finishers. I share some of the article with you at this time and urge you to read the entire article if the payoff holds your interest.

You can make an extra $4 to $8 per head on your finishing hogs without spending a dime.

It doesn't involve any tricks, gimmicks or secret ingredients. Simply sort your barrows from the gilts and feed each group according to its needs.

Barrows gain faster, but require more feed per pound of gain, have more back-fat, smaller loin-eyes and a smaller percent lean.

Since total daily nutrient intake is what counts, you can feed barrows a lower level of amino acids.

Feeding extra protein does nothing to improve performance. Eventually it hurts. The animal has to excrete excess protein, which requires energy that could be used for growth.

Gilts are inherently able to put on more lean gain, and they do it more efficiently than barrows.

Even with a standard 15 percent protein finishing diet, chances are you're over-feeding barrows and under-feeding gilts.

Separate sex feeding is not new. Cattlemen have been feeding heifers and steers separately for years. The swine industry has known about the benefits for nearly two decades, but lost interest during the prosperous '70s.

Too many producers overlook the benefit of a dollar here and a dollar there. Research shows $4 per pig is a reasonable payback.

Separate feeding will boost both sexes' efficiency. Joe Connor, swine veterinarian, Carthage, Ill., estimates most producers could easily improve feed efficiency by 0.2 pound. If a producer's at 3.6 he should be able to drop to 3.4.

At the same time, you can increase your herd's average daily gain. Suppose your barrows are gaining 2.07 pounds per day and your gilts are averaging 1.7 pounds. Not bad. If you split these hogs you might not gain much on barrows, but gilts could respond with an extra 0.2 pound daily gain.

Ready to make that extra $4 to $8 with separate feeding? Here are a few of the steps you'll have to take.

First, evaluate your feed mixing and delivery system. You have to be able to mix and deliver two separate finishing rations. If you have the luxury of housing barrows in one barn and gilts in another, great. Otherwise, two separate auger systems will do the job.

The next step is to sort pigs by sex as they enter the nursery, where they're easiest to handle. But if you prefer to keep litters together in the nursery, sort pigs as they go into the grower unit.

In both the nursery and grower stages, however, continue to feed barrows and gilts the same ration.

Prior to the finishing stage, barrow and gilt performance runs pretty much neck and neck. But once the hogs reach 110 pounds of so, the differences begin to snowball.

As a genereal rule, barrows perform best on a 12 percent to 14 percent protein equivalent finishing diet, while gilts require a 14 percent to 16 percent ration.

COOLER WEATHER IN THE FORECAST

The ventilation system is important for maintaining bird comfort in the poultry house. Although most individuals realize the importance of ventilation-system maintenance for summer bird comfort, it must be remembered that the same system functions during the cooler months.

Inlet openings are the entry point of fresh air into the poultry house. The air intake openings should be covered with screening of a size that will prevent wild birds from entering the building. The ventilation fans should always be pulling air through this screening. Thus, dust, feathers or other debris caught by the screening will not normally fall away. They only serve as obstructions to entrap additional material. We are approaching the season when much natural debris—leaves and residues from crop harvesting—will appear in the air. This debris must not be allowed to obstruct the inlets. The inlet screening should be cleaned and maintained dust and debris free to allow proper and uniform air flow into the poultry house.

The inlets should be checked for uniform opening width. Non-uniform opening width may not be readily observable or create serious ventilation problems during the summer months when the inlets are open to the maximum. When cold weather arrives and the inlets opening is at the minimum, uneven inlet adjustment can result in poor air mixing and non-uniform temperatures in the poultry house.

Just as small differences in inlet opening uniformity may not have been readily apparent during the summer, the same is true for manometer accuracy. The manometer controlling the automated inlets should be cleaned and checked for accuracy. At minimum ventilation rates, especially during periods of strong winds, small discrepancies in manometer readings can result in temperature variations within the house.

If the poultry house contains a misting evaporative cooling system, now is the time it should be serviced as follows:

- remove all nozzles and soak for 10-20 minutes in approximately an 8 percent solution of hydrochloric acid. This can be prepared by diluting common swimming pool muriatic acid 3:1 with water. Dilute the acid in a plastic or glass container. Do not use a metal container. WARNING: acid is caustic—do not get in eyes, mouth, or on skin.
- remove nozzles from solution and rinse with water.
- replace nozzles.
- service the pump in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendation.

Latest Simmental/Simbrah Sire Evaluation Available

BOZEMAN, MT — The 1990 edition of the National Simmental Sire Summary has been released by the American Simmental Association (ASA). It is published as part of the October issue of The Register, ASA's offical publication.

"The Sire Summary is both a product of our performance evaluation program and a contributor to that process," said ASA Executive Vice-President Earl B. Peterson. "We are fortunate to have a performance-minded membership that continues to provide a steady flow of data, upon which to base our evaluation."

"Breeders who want to improve upon specific traits can use the Sire Summary to find bulls with the genetic potential to achieve their goals," Peterson said.

The 1990 edition contains Expected Progency Differences (EPDs) on 2,382 purebred Simmental bulls and 75 purebred Simbrah bulls. In all, progeny records of 19,273 Simmental sires and 302 Simbrah sires were evaluated. Data on all evaluated bulls, even though they may not have been published, is available through the ASA Sire Search program.

EPD's are listed for seven economic traits: 1) calving ease, first calf; 2) birth weight; 3) weaning weight; 4) yearling weight; 5) maternal calving ease, first calf; 6) maternal weaning weight; and 7) maternal milk.

"The EPD's must always be tempered by the accuracy of the prediction," Peterson explained. "EPD's for bulls with low accuracies have the potential to fluctuate more than EPD's for bulls with high accuracies."

"Genetic trends, by trait, are printed in the new Sire Summary," said Dr. John Pollak of Cornell University's Animal Science Department, who co-head the ASA Sire Evaluation along with Dr. Richard Quaas. "It is readily apparent as to what changes have occurred as the direct result of breeder selection."

For a complimentary copy of the 1990 Sire Summary or any additional information, contact the ASA headquarters. Telephone toll-free 800/548-0205 or write the American Simmental Association, One Simmental Way, Bozeman, MT 59715.

ASA is a national association dedicated to the enhancement of the Simmental and Simbrah cattle breeds. Association members include purebred cattle producers, seedstock suppliers, cow/calf operations and commercial feedlot operators. The Association works closely with individual state Simmental/Simbrah associations and is a member of the World Simmental Federation.

Founded in 1968, the Bozeman, Montana, based association provides breed registration services, publishes an annual Sire Summary of Expected Progeny Differences, conducts a summer conference and annual winter meeting, and distributes educational and technical information to members and academic institutions. The Association encourages youth involvement through the American Junior Simmental Association which conducts an annual youth conference. ASA disseminates information through various publications including the association's flagship publication, The Register.

ASA represents over 8,900 active adult members and over 4,000 junior members with average annual registrations of 70,000 Simmental and 8,500 Simbrah cattle.

Bill Opposes Anti-Beef Terrorism

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Dozens of cattle industry groups are backing legislation that would make it a federal crime to vandalize or disrupt livestcok farming, ranching, or agricultural research.

The bill, S-1330, sponsored by Sen. Jesse Helms (R-N.C.), was prompted by the growing number of attacks, bombings and threats by animal rights radicals against livestock producers, organizations, or farm and meat-packing facilities.

There have been a number of sucah attacks. In California, a meat plant was set on fire and an unlit Molotov cocktail was tossed through a window at the California Cattlemen's Association offices in Sacramento.

"There is a long list of such animal rights terrorism," Helms said.

Officials at the National Cattlemen's Association report receiving threatening phone calls and threats against family members. In some cases, the instigators left anti-meat slogans on the wall.

NCA president Bob Josserand said, "Cattlemen across the nation are seriously concerned about animal rights violence."

"Farmers are fearing for their safety, as well as for that of their farms," said Barbara Huffman, president of the American Veal Association.

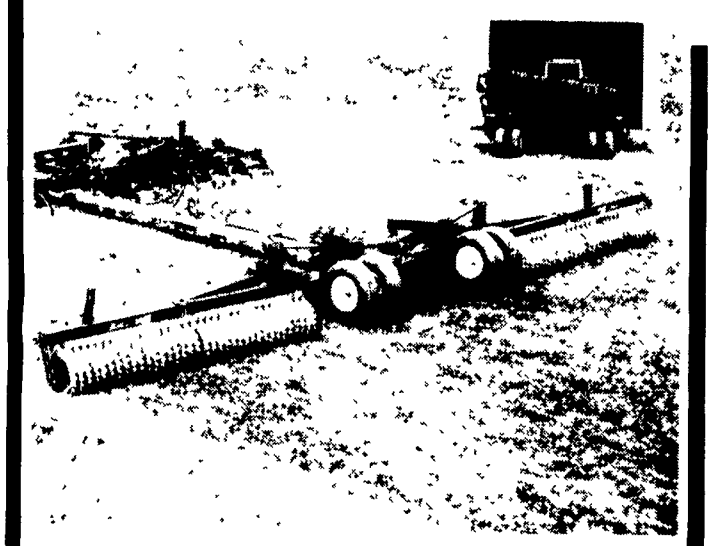
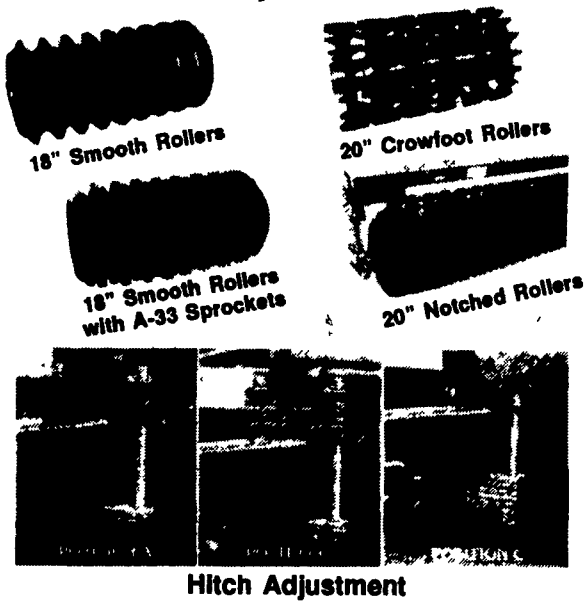
NEW X-FOLD PULVERIZERS

Choice of Four Styles of Roller Wheels





Hitch Adjustment

The pulverizer has been a basic tool for nearly 100 years and Brillion has been building them since 1895. Look at these features:

- Automatic Transport Lock
- Telescoping Drawbar
- Hitch Adjustment
- Cost Efficient-Energy Savings
- Floating Wings
- Narrow Transport Width

Another outstanding feature of BRILLION's X-Fold Pulverizers is the Hitch Adjustment. The pulverizer drawbar can pivot vertically in field position. Three thicknesses of shims are provided on the braces on each side of the drawbar (⅛", ¼" & ½"). These shims are used to limit soil pushing in front of the rollers.

Badger Silo Unloader Remote Control Features Operator Safety

KAUKAUNA, WI — A new silo unloader remote control, designed for greater safety and operator convenience, is now available from Badger Northland Inc.

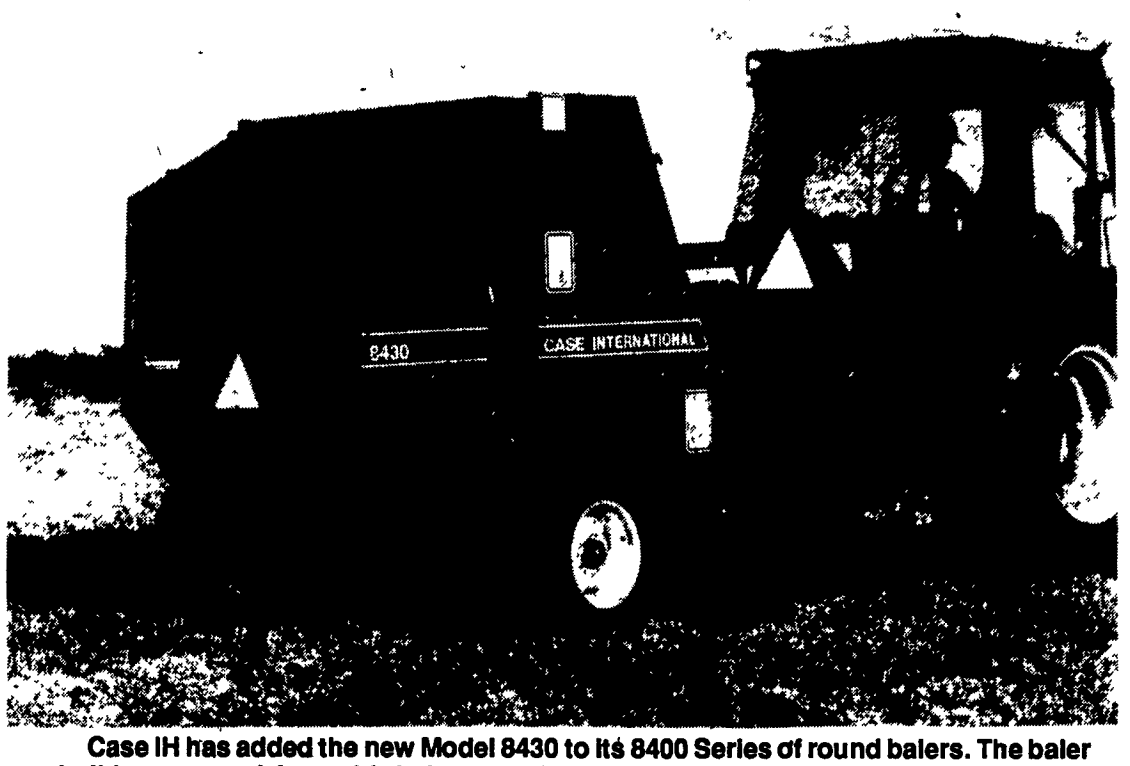
The Badger silo unloader remote control makes it easier to adjust and service any silo unloader while providing a greater level of safety for the operator. The wired, hand-held remote control eliminates inconvenient trips from the silo to the main control panel by allowing the operator to start or stop the unloader from any location, simply by pushing a button.

If adjustments from within the silo are necessary, the lightweight control provides an extra measure of safety for the operator. The remote is designed to override the main control so that the silo unloader cannot be engaged without using the remote control.

Badger's user-engineered remote control unit is built to withstand even the toughest conditions. It features a specially designed rain-proof panel, as well as a magnetic starter, ampmeter and easy-to-operate on/off switch. In addition, the Silo Unloader Remote Control is compatible with all silo unloaders, regardless of model or age.

Badger Northland, an employee-owned company, offers a complete line of livestock oriented machinery and farmstead equipment, including forage boxes and blowers, running gears, liquid and solid manure handling systems, and feed handling equipment.

For more information on the Badger Silo Unloader Remote Control contact: Chet Gibbons, Badger Northland Inc., 1215 Hyland Avenue, P.O. Box 1215, Kaukauna, Wisconsin 54130 or call 414/766-4603.



Case IH has added the new Model 8430 to its 8400 Series of round balers. The baler builds compact 4-foot-wide bales up to 4.25 feet in diameter and weighing up to 1,000 pounds. Seven-inch-wide belts, hydraulic twine arm, overfill protection, and an audio full-bale alert are standard. The five models in the 8400 Series produce well-formed bales from a variety of crops and crop residues.

New Round Baler Expands Case IH Line

RACINE, WI — Case IH has added an all-new round baler, Model 8430, to its existing line of 8400 Series balers. It is a Class II size designed for hay producers who want the convenience of a round baler with deluxe features at a reasonable price.

The Model 8430 builds compact four-foot-wide bales up to 4.25 feet in diameter which weigh up to 1,000 pounds. This bale size is especially convenient for handling and transport. Overfill protection and a tractor-mounted console with audio full-bale alert and tailgate latched indicator light are standard.

Like the other balers in the 8400 Series, the Model 8430 produces well-formed bales from a variety of crops and crop residues. Hydrauylic belt tensioning ensures consistent bale density in all crop conditions. Seven-inch-wide belts provide 90 percent coverage for optimum bale shape and appeapance.

Advanced variable chamber design provides faster bale starts and dense bales. A direct-feed, open-throat bale chamber simplifies starting a bale, while a low-profile pickup preserves hay quality by reducing leaf loss. The crop smoothly travels a short distance vertically before entering the bale chamber, minimizing windrow disturbance.

A hydraulically activated twine arm is standard, and an optional speed control valve provides additional twine spacing adjustment. Optional windrow gathering wheels help consolidate wide windrows and assure full bale sides.

Designed for dependability, features on the Model 8430 include: slip clutch overload protection, two chain split drive, cast bearing retainers on the belt drive, and a pickup with cast cam-track and high tensile strength teeth.

The Model 8430 requires a minimum 50-PTO-horsepower tractor with dual remote hydraulics. The Model 8430 is in limited production during 1989 and will be available through all Case IH dealers in 1990.

The 8400 Series of round balers includes the Models 8420, 8430, 8440, 8450 and 8460. The smallest baler in the 8400 Series is the Model 8420. It produces compact 3.25-foot-wide bales up to 4.5 feet in diameter and weighing up to 550 pounds. The Model 8420 is intended for the smaller-scale, budget-minded operator.

For economical mid-range baling needs, the Model 8440 builds 5-foot-wide bales with a maximum diameter of 5 feet and 1,000 pounds maximum weight. It features electrically actuated twine wrap and audio alert when a preselected bale size is reached.

For baling on a larger scale, Case IH offers the Models 8450 and 8460. The Model 8450 produces bales 4 feet wide, up to 6.25 feet in diameter and up to 1,666 pounds. It is now available with an optional bale kicker.

The Model 8460 offers automatic baling in the purest sense: virtually the only functions the operator needs to perform are switching on the automatic system and driving. It builds 5-foot-wide bales up to 6.25 feet in diameter and 2,200 pounds.

Headquartered in Racine, Wisconsin, Case IH is a worldwide manufacturer and marketer of Case IH agricultural and Case IH construction equipment. Case IH is an affiliate of Tenneco Inc., Houston.

Tenneco Inc. is a diversified industrial corporation with major business interests in natural gas pipelines, agricultural and construction equipment, shipbuilding, automotive parts, packaging, chemicals and minerals.

Cyanamid Dedicates Laboratory

PRINCETON, NJ — American Cyanamid Company, employing over 35,000 people in 135 countries throughout the world, dedicated a state-of-the-art agricultural research and development laboratory in Princeton, New Jersey, on September 15.

"We are excited about the addition of this new facility," said Dr. James V. Gramlich, director of the Agricultural Research Division, "but, even more importantly, we are excited about the future of agriculture and the role we intend to play in it. The fact that plans for this new facility took place during the early 1980s, when American agriculture was in near economic disaster, clearly demonstrates our commitment to this industry."

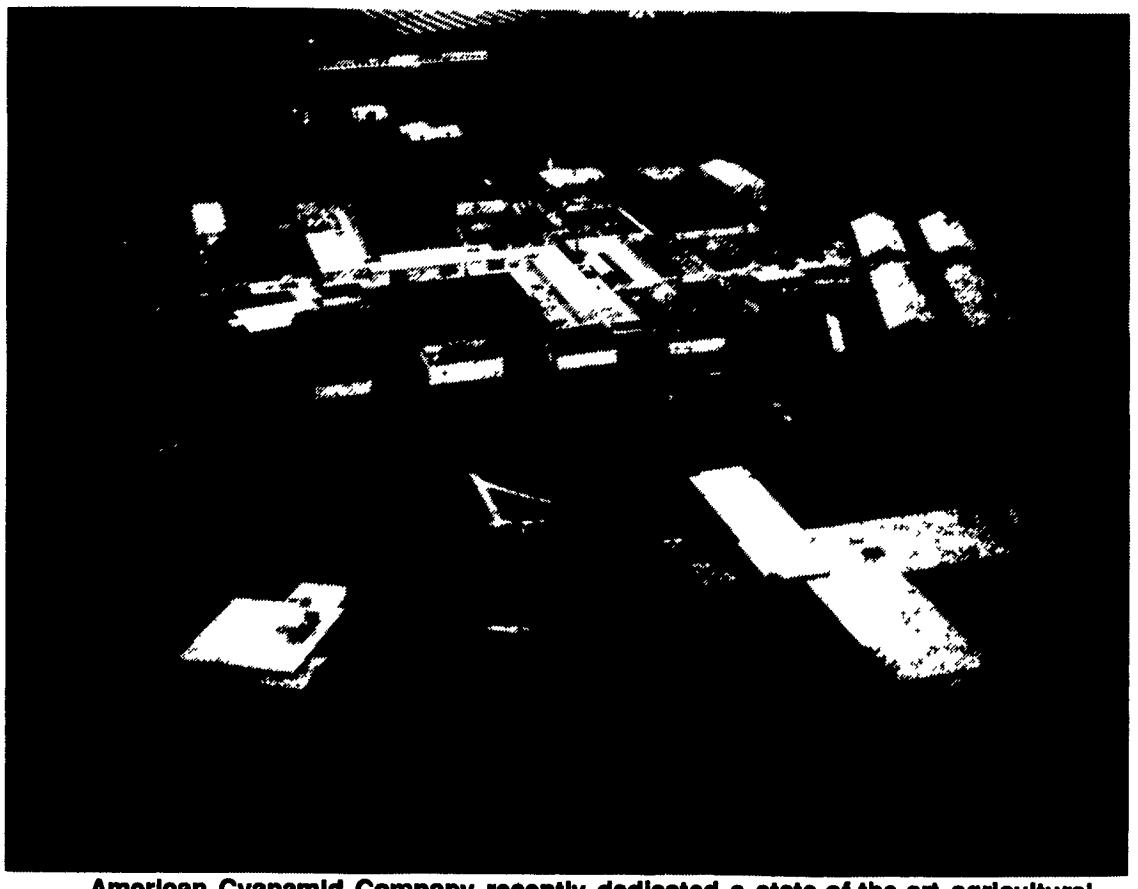
American Cyanamid fully understands the importance in developing global markets for both plant and animal agricultural products and currently has 25 major international subsidiaries. In addition, Cyanamid's Agricultural Group has research facilities in England, Japan, Brazil, and a number of other countries throughout the world. The Group also has 62 formulating plants and 11 manufacturing plants outside the United States.

The new R&D facility is expected to enhance research activities at Cyanamid's Agricultural Research Division.

In 1984, the Company set a goal to have 15 products approved for commercial use in the United States within five years. By the end of 1988, only four years later, the Agricultural Research Division surpassed this goal by two products. These accomplishments are in addition to 32 product approvals outside the United States.

Cyanamid does not expect to let up on this record of accomplishment. In fact, management looks for the newly constructed research facility to increase its ability to effectively discover and develop products that enhance food production throughout the world.

American Cyanamid Company is a research-based, biotechnology and chemical company which develops agricultural, medical, chemical, and consumer products, and manufactures and markets them throughout the world.



American Cyanamid Company recently dedicated a state-of-the-art agricultural research and development lab in Princeton, N.J. The facility is expected to enhance research activities at Cyanamid's Agricultural Research Division.

Renew Agricultural Land Leases Now

NEWARK, DE. — August 31 was the last date of notification for renewal or termination of verbal land leases in Delaware, says Derby Walker, University of Delaware Extension agricultural agent.

"According to state law, a landlord or tenant must be notified four months before the end of the year, unless there is an agreement for another date," he says. "Unless notice has been given otherwise a farmer can expect to have the lease renewed for one more year.

"Farmers who want to evaluate current rental land or consider new property should look closely at the economics, particularly with current corn and soybean prices," Walker says. Sometimes the rent paid isn't worth the return.

"Unless you have a reasonable chance of making a profit, don't rent the land and work all year for nothing," the agent says.

Walker suggests that farmers ask themselves the following questions before settling on a rental price:

* What are the current pH and soil fertility levels?
* Does the field have a serious weed problem, especially noxious weeds?
* What herbicides were used last year? Certain herbicides may restrict cropping options for the following two to three years.
* Are there any serious soilborne problems such as diseases and/or nematodes?
* Is the field difficult to till or spray because of compaction, an odd shape, susceptibility to wind damage? Poor drainage can be a real problem, as this past season has pointed out, Walker says.
* Are there problems or potential problems with neighbors?
* Does the field have a corn or small grain base that you can use in ASCS programs?
* What is the average yield (10-year average) for the crop you would grow on that land?
* Have crops been rotated?
* Will the additional land reduce your management time to the point that you cannot stay on top of things and your overall farming operation suffers?
* Is the landlord cooperative and flexible, or very demanding?

"If you can't answer all these questions satisfactorily," Walker says, "chances are, you'll lose money on the deal."

Jeff And Ginger Top Reading Holstein Show

BY VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

READING (Berks Co.) — Jeff Davis and his three-year-old Holstein, Daview Pete Ginger, have spent most of the summer in the winner's circle, and the Reading Fair proved to be no different. Ginger had much the same competition as she faced at the Kutztown Fair and again she picked up the grand champion's ribbon. The Straight Pine Elevation Pete daughter also was the champion of the Berks County 4-H roundup and won her class at the 4-H district show. In the future she will be appearing in state competition.

Red Fever Arthur Peach, owned by the Younker family of Red Fever Farm, and exhibited by Tammy Balthaser was selected as the reserve champion. Peach, the second-place three-year-old in the open division, is a Long-Haven Arthur Twin daughter.

Erica Davis, Jeff's cousin, had the youth reserve grand champion, Daview Elevation Ballerina. The night before, 10-year-old Erica was honored as the top dairy showman at the fair. According to Agricultural Superintendant Wayne Readinger, the big senior two-year-old follows Erica around like a horse follows sugar. Jeremy Troutman, another Holstein showman, received reserve showman and fitting honors. Randy Balthaser was the reserve fitter.

The top honors for junior animals went to Reu-Hel Farms Count Superior, owned by the Ohlinger family of Reu-Hel Farms. The senior yearling was only one of a number of winners for the Mohrsville family. The farm exhibited six first-place class winners and daughter Cathleen had another.

Red Fever Farm exhibited the reserve junior champion, a junior yearling named Red Fever Nikitia Indy. Despite the two reserves, Jimmy Younker said the animals would not be going to the All American.

In the youth division Stacey Geist won the junior championship with her junior yearling Reu-Hel Farms Bell Special. Bell was right behind Indy in the open division of their class.

Erica Davis had the youth reserve junior champion, Daview Judge Beezus. Beezus, an intermediate calf, was the reserve junior champion in the open division at the Kutztown Fair.

A partial list of the winners follows.

SLICK CONCRETE CAN BE ROUGHENED

SCABBLING is an effective way to avoid unnecessary losses of cattle. The SCABBLER makes bands about two inches wide approximately 1/8" to 3/16 in. depth. This gives sufficient area for good footing while allowing you to scrape the smooth surface as before. It is near enough to the surface to give your cows full advantage of the roughness and deep enough to remain effective for years. It greatly aids in heat detection.

And the good news is that it is reasonably priced. You have the choice of doing it yourself or having us do it for you. We offer service right to your door. Call us for more details.

Open Status Impacts Reading Colored Breed Dairy Shows

BY VAL VAN TASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent

READING (Berks Co.) — For the first time since 1979, the Reading Fair held open dairy shows aloowing farmers outside of Berks County to exhibit their animals at the event. The fair board's decision resulted in an exciting colored breeds show.

There was some unusually stiff competition for local Jersey owners. The Top-O-Hill prefix is known throughout southeast Pennsylvania for Jersey excellence, and breeder Mildred Seeds and Chester Valley 4-H'ers were out in force. They dominated both the open and youth division, winning almost all of the championship honors as well as the group classes. The Chester County contingency also won every class in which they were entered.

Seeds, whose herd has been homebred for 15 years, had the senior championship titles in the open show as well as grand and reserve grand champions, Top-O-Hill Milestone Cutie and Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Penny. Cutie, who was the supreme champion of the Allentown Fair, has seen a lot of action this summer, winning the Schuylkill County Fair, York County Fair, and Cecil County Fair. Penny was the reserve champion at the Luzerne County Fair and the supreme champion animal at last year's Cecil County Fair.

Sliding into the youth division top spot was Karen Sanner and her senior champion. Her Top-O-Hill Admiral Tina was the youth show's reserve junior champion.

Tonya Koslowski's Top-O-Hill Admiral M G Valentine was named junior champion of both open and youth shows, and reserve grand champion of the youth show. Seeds' Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Tootsie was the reserve junior champion of the open show.

The only championship title not going to a Chester Countian, was reserve senior champion of the youth division. That rosette went to Irish Creek Stone Chocolate owned by John Koinski of Mohrsville.

Ayreshire

Another Chester County 4-H'er, Craig Nolan of Cochranville, took home the grand champion honors in the Ayrshire breed. His 11-year-old Tower View Star Sadrin topped the show. The Dreamnol cow has had a long show career which includes being named an All American winner as a calf.

Reserve grand champion Ayrshire ribbons went to Chris Blatt's five-year-old Tshudy's Super Star Dolora.

Jed Vail of Myerstown had the top junior Ayrshire, a junior calf named Karlyn R. Monnand's Keeley. Another Blatt animal, Sycamore-Mead Pudges Frosty was named reserve junior champion.

Guernsey

The Guernsey breed remains the stronghold of the Hollenbach family of Bernville. Susan, Amy, and Daniel had all the animals in the show with Amy taking the grand, junior, and reserve junior championships. Her three-year-old Terlin BE Mina was chosen as the top Guernsey over her sister's Blue Mountain View Admiral Angie.

Amy's junior yearling, Blue Mountain View Ronda Mandy, was named as the junior champion with Blue Mountain View Victory Candace in the reserve junior spot.

Brown Swiss

Randy Balthaser of Bernville also had a very good day. Windmill Balison Gilda, a five-year-old, was named as the show's top Brown Swiss. Coming in as reserve was Balthaser's four-year-old, Quiet Valley Classic Heidi. The junior champion of the youth show was Balthaser's Northkill Creek Custom Hazel, who was also the open show reserve junior champion. Northkill Creek N. Oreo was chosen as the reserve junior champion of the youth division.

Balthaser's clean sweep was upset by Pinesedge Stretch Doll, owned by Pinesedge Farm, owned by the Sam Yoder family.

Pinesedge is better know for Milking Shorthorns, and in that show, it had all champions. Pinesedge W.C. Sally, a spunky junior two-year-old, took the grand champion rosette with reserve grand champion honors going to Pinesedge Cherry Cake.

Pinesedge Dan Rose Gayle was the junior champion, while Pinesedge King Winnie was the reserve junior champion.

Eliot Reimert, the only youth exhibitor for the breed, received grand and junior champion honors with his intermediatae yearling, Three Springs Crickett.

A partial list of the winners follows.

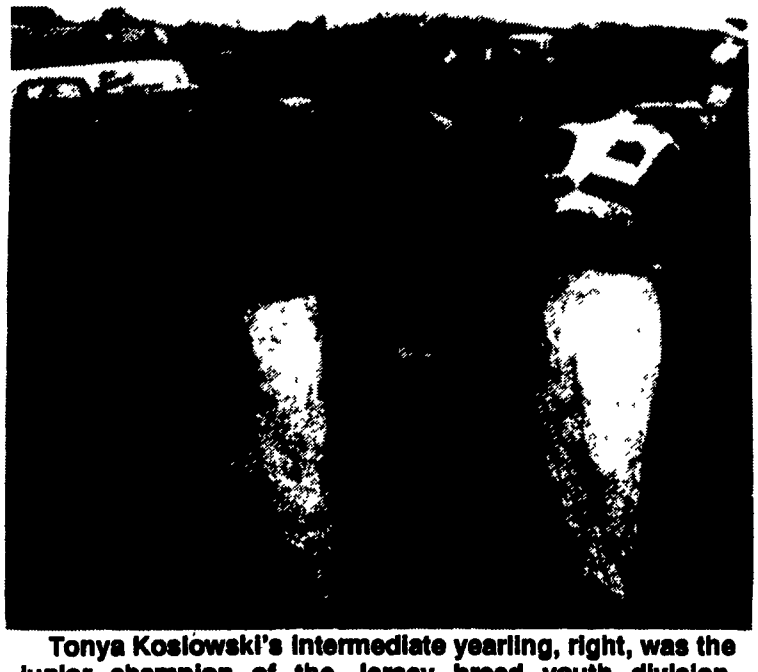
Mildred Seeds, left, dominated the open division of the Jersey show at the Reading Fair. Four-year-old Top-O-Hill Milestone Cutie was named the grand champion with Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Penny coming in as reserve grand champion. Seeds bred all the champion animals in both the open and youth divisions.



Tonya Koslowski's intermediate yearling, right, was the junior champion of the Jersey breed youth division. Another intermediate, owned by Karen Sanner, picked up reserve junior champion honors. Both girls are members of the Chester Valley 4-H Club.

The Jersey show belonged to the Chester County contingent. In the youth division, Karen Sanner, right, and her four-year-old Top-O-Hill Silver Beacon Penny II, topped the event followed by Top-O-Hill Admiralo M G Valentine, an intermediate yearling owned by Tonya Koslowski.

Northeast UEP Agrees To Changes

BOSTON, MA — In a board meeting held here August 30, the directors of Northeast UEP agreed on sweeping changes aimed at meeting the needs of the rapidly changing egg industry of the Northeast. Installing David Baker from Middletown, DE, as the new chairman of the board, Northeast UEP voted to relocate its office within a 30-mile radius of Washington, D.C. This location will provide the cooperative with easier accessibility to the federal regulatory agencys impacting on the industry and make it closer to the large mid-Atlantic layer population.

In a letter to UEP and Northeast UEP's sister regionals, Chairman Baker stated "By this action of redirecting Northeast UEP, we are responding to the wishes of our supporting members and we believe a large number of producers who have either discontinued membership or never felt the need to become members. I have personally committed myself to turning Northease UEP into a viable organization for the Northeast Egg Producer."

The new objective for the cooperative will include member services such as fowl and egg trading, a trade show and regulatory lobbying on Northeast egg industry issues. Management will begin immediately to locate new office space in the greater Washington area but will maintain operations in New Hampshire until the move is completed.

PURINA MILLS, INC.

Dairy Tips By Dr. John Clark

Purina Mills Dairy Consultant

THE VALUE OF PELLETED DAIRY FEEDS

Pelleted grain & concentrate products for dairy cows are formulated to provide feeds that help cows eat & produce more. Benefits of pelleting these feeds may be listed as: a). Prevention of sorting by the animal. b). Prevention of ingredient separation during transport or when handling. c). Increased bulk density of the feed which allows them to eat more total feed in a shorter period of time. d). Improved handling characteristics of the feed, particularly in parlor situations. And, e). reduced dustiness.

Many dairymen, & other feeders, resist feeding pelleted products because they are unsure of what are in them. State & federal laws, however, along with frequent inspections by government representatives, assure that tag guarantees & ingredient specifications are met. These laws specify fines for any feed manufacturer that does not comply with the laws. Correct ingredient content & amounts are checked by laboratory examination.

Only ingredients listed on the tag must be in the feed and nothing can be in the feed that should not be there — it's the law.

TRUCKLOAD SALE GOING ON NOW!!!

Your Purina dealer now has the best price of the season on money-making Purina Dairy Dewormers. Why do I say money-making, because worming has a better payback than most other management practices. Most scientific studies show 500 to 600 pounds more milk from the worming program even when cows didn't show chronic worm problems.

LOOK AT THIS PAYBACK

500 pounds extra milk x 12¢/lb. = $60.00 extra income
wormer cost $2-$3 per cow = $57.00 profit

Both of Purina's wormers feature no milk discard and a palatable 16% dairy feed base. Choose from

Purina Six/16 Dairy Wormer

- coumaphos based
- feed for six days
- Ideal for TMR mix

Purina Top/16 Dairy Wormer

- Rumatel based
- feed for 1 day
- Ideal for top dress

Make sure to talk to your Purina Dealer in October about his truck load sale on Purina Dairy Wormers.
